Santa Ana Dies After Fist Fight

INQUEST JURY TO CONDUCT DEATH PROBE

Fred Adkinson Said to Have Been Victim of Battle in Long Beach Auto Camp

WAS BADLY BEATEN UP

Nose Bitten Off in Struggle Alleged to Have Resulted from Argument

COMPLAINT charging that A. J. Mankins, of Long Beach, was responsible for the death of Fred Adkinson, 30, of Santa Ana, after a terrific battle between the two men in a cottage Tuesday night in Long Beach, was to be filed in Long Beach today, following an inquest into the circumstances surrounding the death of Adkinson, according to a report received in Santa Ana today.

Mankins is held in the Long Beach city jail.

Adkinson and Mankins were both staying at Mohagen tourist camp, in Long Beach, it was said, and a quarrel ensued when Adkinson was said to have accused Mankins of "starting a movement to deport Adkinson to Englaand." A part of Adkinson's nose was said to have been bitten off, his head and body badly beaten, with the result that he was unconscious when Long Beach police arrived, according to the report.

He died in the Long Beach community hospital without regaining his senses.

Adkinson leaves a widow and three children in Santa Ana, it was shown in the report received by Sheriff Sam Jernigan. A brother, Joseph Adkinson, of Occidental avenue, Santa Ana Gardens, was notified of the death of his brother.

The degree of the murder charge would depend, to some extent, upon the findings of the coroner's jury, it was reported.

Hold Inquest In Death of Kerrick

LOS ANGELES, April 29.—An inquest was scheduled to be held here today over the body of Tom Kerrick, cowboy film actor, who was shot to death as an aftermath to a wild party staged in his home early Wednesday morning, according to police reports.

PRACTICALLY one hundred per cent of the vote of Austria was cast at a recent election. Eighty-five to ninety-five per cent is a common experience in Germany. We, in the original home of government by voting, do well if we get out half the registered voters, which is an even smaller fraction of those who might have qualified. Are the Germans and Austrians better citizens than we are, and better qualified in democracy?

Naturally not. But watch one of their elections and you will see at least one reason for the difference. An American ballot is the size of a newspaper. Their ballot is the size of a postcard. Most of the American ballot is covered with candidates and offices that the voter knows nothing about and has no reason for caring. Whether they are elected or defeated will not affect him personally, nor much change any public interest in which he is concerned. The voters do not care, because, as to most of the ballot, there is no reason why they should care. Ask yourself, personally, what difference it makes to you who is County Clerk, or Surveyor-General. What do you know, or care, as to nine-tenths of the "measures" on the ballot?

The postcard size European ballot has on it candidates for only one office. That office is the one which determines what sort of a government the city, state or nation is going to have. And that government has the power to determine what sorts of lives all the people will probably live. The election decides something, and everybody cares. The other offices, which any competent man can fill, one as well as another, are not on the ballot. It is the "short ballot" to the final decree.

Whenever we will seriously consider the short ballot question in this country, we shall have made a beginning of attacking the chief cause of American non-voting indifference.

"Still Bill" Is Signed by Young

SACRAMENTO, April 29.—Governor Young today signed the "still bill" by Senator H. C. Jones, of San Jose, one of the most hotly contested prohibition measures of the legislative session.

The commission includes U. S. Senator Waterman, Colorado; Governor Emerson, Wyoming; ex-Governor James Serugham, Nevada, and Professor Durant, of Stanford university.

Meeting with this commission was some members of the international river commission, appointed to adjudicate the water rights of streams touching both Mexico and the United States, and others of the international boundary commission.

The party was due to return from Mexico tonight for a banquet given by Yuma dam boosters. An inspection tour of the Yuma projects will be made Saturday and Sunday the commissioners will visit the Yuma mesa. The commission will then proceed into Nevada to view the Boulder canyon site and later the Glen canyon site.

Every Dog Has His Day at Canine Exhibit

LANKERSHIM, April 29.—Every dog has his day, here today, when Lankershim's second annual canine exposition opens, with more than 700 entries competing for honors.

Famous dogs of filmland, whose contracts with producers are said to be signed with pay bills, will be on their benches for admiration of screen fans.

LAUNCH MOVE FOR BOULDER DAM HARMONY

Work Colorado River Commission Meets for Tour Of Inspection

(By United Press)

YUMA, Ariz., April 29.—A new move to bring harmony in the Boulder dam controversy was launched here today in this vitally affected area along the Colorado river.

The new Colorado river commission, appointed by Secretary of the Interior Hubert Work, was to meet for the first time and inspect the vast areas whose economic futures depend on the fate of the Boulder project.

Secretary Work and Elwood Mead, reclamation commissioner, were to hear local irrigation interests discuss their problems and then leave for a tour this afternoon to Imperial head and below, along the Colorado levee on the Mexican side in Lower California, where the acute danger of floods in the Imperial valley is said to exist.

The report of the commission, which will be delivered to congress through Secretary work, will be an authoritative document, which is expected to influence the consideration of the Swing-Johnson bill or other measures at the next session.

The commission includes U. S. Senator Waterman, Colorado; Governor Emerson, Wyoming; ex-Governor James Serugham, Nevada, and Professor Durant, of Stanford university.

Following a session yesterday, it is to be characterized by conflicting testimony, the county jury adjourned its probe into Kerrick's death, until Monday when they will again resume the investigation.

Mrs. Sarah Kerrick, wife of the slain actor, who is being held on suspicion of murder collapsed after she had testified before the inquisitorial body concerning facts surrounding her husband's death.

Meeting with this commission was some members of the international river commission, appointed to adjudicate the water rights of streams touching both Mexico and the United States, and others of the international boundary commission.

The party was due to return from Mexico tonight for a banquet given by Yuma dam boosters. An inspection tour of the Yuma projects will be made Saturday and Sunday the commissioners will visit the Yuma mesa. The commission will then proceed into Nevada to view the Boulder canyon site and later the Glen canyon site.

MURDER CHARGE WILL BE CONTESTED

LOS ANGELES, April 29.—Attorneys for Dorothy Mackaye prepared here today to have an indictment charging the actress with felony counts in connection with the death of her husband, Ray Raymond, quashed when she appears to plead Monday.

Following the delay granted yesterday by Superior Judge Charles Burnell, at which time Miss Mackaye asked additional time to plead, Attorney Roger Marchetti announced he would contest the legality of the indictment.

Attorneys for Dr. Walter Sullivan, physician who attended Raymond after the beating administered by Paul Kelly, film juvenile, also will fight the similar indictment returned against the medical man.

It is absolutely necessary that I have six servants to look after the needs of my two children and myself," Mrs. Chaplin testified, stating that her total household expenses for April amounted to approximately $300.

Dr. Sullivan's plea also was delayed until Monday.

Chaplin Alimony Battle Resumed

LOS ANGELES, April 29.—Lita Chaplin renewed her court battle here today for temporary alimony pending settlement of the divorce suit against her comedian husband, Charlie Chaplin.

The comedian's wife took the witness stand in the court of superior Judge Walter Guerin and testified to her need for $3000 monthly alimony.

"It is absolutely necessary that I have six servants to look after the needs of my two children and myself," Mrs. Chaplin testified, stating that her total household expenses for April amounted to approximately $300.

DIES IN CHAIR

LINCOLN, Neb., April 29.—Henry Bartlett paid with his life in the electric chair at the state penitentiary in Lincoln today for the murder of Chief of Police Asa Ransom, of Minden, two and one-half years ago.

BASEBALL RESULTS

FENWAY PARK, Boston, April 29.—Babe Ruth got his fourth homer of the season in the fifth inning of today's game between the Yanks and the Red Sox. There was no body on base. Slim Harris was pitching.

"That's it, Judge, that's it, yes sir," the girl answered eagerly, "Kittiwampus like. That's how it was."

The shorthand reporter was disorganized.

He sprang up, tearing his hair, and turned agonized eyes upon the judge.

WASHINGON, W. Va., April 29.—Dr. Chester C. Dobbs was a free man today and King county officials had an unsolved murder mystery on their hands. A jury in superior court last night found the Kirkland dentist not guilty of the murder of Letitia Whitehall, his 14-year-old patient, who met death Hallowe'en after leaving Dobbs' office.

holiday. Provided for purchase of homes up to $7500 in value under farm and home loan act, with state aid up to $5000. Authorized cities and counties to erect memorial halls as meeting places for veterans, exempted veterans from paying peddlers licenses and created office of public guardian to pursue claims against the government for pension allotment or compensation.

Highways and Automobiles

Increased the gasoline tax from 2 to 3 cents a gallon and allocated the revenue on a "50-50" basis between northern and southern California. Voted to place a $10,000,000 bond issue on the ballot at the 1928 election for separation of grade crossings. Increased the franchise on the Carquinez toll bridge from 25 to 35 years. Raised the speed limit on open highways from 35 to 40 miles an hour, required strict examination of everyone desiring license to drive an automobile, and permitted jury to fix penalty for driving while drunk.

Narcotic Addiction

Authorized establishment of narcotic wards in state hospitals. Made illegal the "ambulatory" or tapering off process of curing addicts. Tightened up laws relative to prescribing of "dope" by doctors or selling by druggists.

Reapportionment

Redistricted the state into senate and assembly divisions, as provided by the law adopted at the election last fall. This system gives the farm districts control of the senate and cities control of the assembly. Threats of invoking a referendum on this action have been made by members of the Southern California delegation.

Reorganization

Created a governor's council of heads of state departments, including directors of finance, education, public works, public health institutions, agriculture, industrial relations, social welfare, and natural resources. Completely revamped all these departments and divisions to conform to the new program.

Taxation

Threatened with loss of $12,000,000 in state taxes through recent supreme court decisions exempting foreign corporations and national banks from tax, the legislature repealed the seven per cent tax on intangible securities and substituted the county rate of $1.45. Repealed the corporations license tax and increased the general corporation franchise rate from 1.6 to 1.8.

Water Conservation

Established a permanent Colorado river arbitration commission. Voted to place on the 1928 election ballot a measure limiting the riparian water right doctrine to beneficial use. Authorized the state to file on all water deemed necessary for putting into effect the $355,000,000 co-ordinated water conservation program of State Engineer Paul Bailey.

Women and Marriage

Changed the community property law to give to a wife a present and existing interest in the property instead of a future and inherited interest. Raised the age of majority women from 18 to 21, except for marriage, which remains at 18. Adopted the "gin marriage" bill, requiring a couple to declare intentions of marriage three days before being granted a license. Created commission to investigate separate prison for women. Passed the bill permitting husbands to collect alimony from wives after divorce.

In north China it is not uncommon for new-born Chinese babies to have blue eyes and light red hair.

Expect Whistling Will Cure Stupid Drama In France

PARIS, April 29.—Whistling—the French method of hissing—is to be applied to the French drama as a cure for stupidity, indecency and corruption.

A band of young men of artistic temperament proposes to whistle out of existence a lot of theatrical trash. As one critic remarks, "they will, at least keep the audience awake, even if the play doesn't."

Money, as usual, gets most of the blame for the ills of the Parisian stage. Theaters are subleased several times, each lessor getting a profit, until managers are hamstrung.

"Everything is bought in the theater," writes Rene Wilsner, "the roles as well as the privilege of having a play produced. Talent no longer counts. That is why our dramatic art, formerly the best in the world, now is in the fifth or sixth rank, behind Austria, Germany, Italy and even England."

Most noted actresses are credited with having rich protectors and the dramatists most frequently played also have fortunes and can afford to pay for more glory, say the disgruntled ones.

Family Loyalty
To Alma Mater
Is Demonstrated

A remarkable record of family loyalty to their "alma mater" where not only the grandfather and grandmother were graduates of the University of Michigan, but their daughter and son-in-law graduated from the same institution, and their daughter, in turn, is now planning to finish her education at Ann Arbor, is brought to light with the arrival here of Z. D.
Scott, a retired lumber dealer of Duluth, Minn., now staying at St. Ann's Inn. He is a brother of Mrs. William Ashmore, mother of Dr. Frank Ashmore of this city.

Scott was one of the founders of the Scott, Graff Lumber company, Duluth, Minn., and one of the largest concerns of its kind in the middle west. Until retiring from active business, the visitor was president of the company.

Scott graduated from Ann Arbor in 1873, his wife having graduated the year before.
Their daughter was one of the honor graduates of the institution, and she married an Ann Arbor man, Judge H. A. Dancer of Duluth. Miss Helen Dancer, now attending a girl's college in Virginia, is planning to finish her liberal education at the "alma mater" of her parents and grandparents.

Gold Is Found In Chickens' Crops

CHEHALIS, Wn., April 29.—
Somewhere in the state of Washington there is a rancher who has gold on his farm and doesn't know it.
The "strike" was made by chickens but the fowls, unlike the fabled goose that laid the golden eggs, did not reveal that they were filling their crows with gold nuggets to assist bits of gravel in the digestive progress of grinding up kernels of grain.

One $8 nugget was taken from a hen at Winlock station. Another produced more than $20 in the metal. The chickens were sold through an Aberdeen butcher and all efforts to trace their feeding place have failed.

A suggestion has been advanced that chickens be transported to Weipah to assist miners in scratching for pay dirt.

Local Briefs

Congratulations were today being extended Mr. and Mrs. E. M.
Smiley, 119 West Washington avenue, upon their new grand-daughter, little Miss Martha Smiley, who was born at the Good Samaritan hospital, Los Angeles, Wednesday, April 27. Miss Martha is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Smiley, of Los Angeles, and her proud daddy is very well known in this city where he attended grade and high schools.

Funeral services were held in Los Angeles today for Mrs. Gladys Robinson and her infant son, who died in that city on Wednesday.
Mrs. Robinson was a niece of Mr.
and Mrs. George Pollard, of Tustin, and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
Bert Woodhouse, former residents of Santa Ana.

R. C. Mason, of London, England, and Mrs. Mason and daughter, who have been spending some time at La Jolla, have returned to St. Ann's Inn for an indefinite stay.

Leonard McWhorter, 41, and Lutie Simms McWhorter, 38, both of Santa Ana, have been issued a marriage license in Riverside. Mc-Whorter is local manager of the Clear Lake Beach company. His wife is said to be his divorced wife.

Friendly Gift Shower
For Recent Bride

Receiving board members of the Business and Professional Women's club, planned a pleasant little surprise yesterday on their bride member, Mrs. John Burns, formerly Miss Flora Pritchett, as a feature of their final executive meeting of the year.

The board usually meets at Kerner's each Thursday for noon luncheon and a discussion of various business matters of the club. Yesterday, however, the members delayed meeting until evening according to the suggestion of Miss Louise Kaiser, retiring president, and assembled at the Rose Arbor tea room for dinner.

It was while they were enjoying the appetizing meal that Mrs. Burns was amazed when packages began to make their appearance, and she learned that she was being complimented with a gift shower. The wedding of Miss Pritchett and Mr. Burns was a quiet event of Easter Sunday morning. For the past year, she has served the Business Women's club as sergeant-at-arms.

With her on the board were Miss Kaiser, president; Mrs. Robert Jeffrey (Helen Mateer), first vice president; Miss Ethel Coffman, second vice president; Miss Elaine Wharton, secretary; Miss Martha Whitson, Miss Hannah Marston and Mrs. Eleanor Elliott. They were joined for the informal party last night, by Miss Helene Kubits, who was bridesmaid at the Easter church societies.

Aid Section Party

When Mrs. W. E. Watkins opened her beautiful home Wednesday afternoon to members of the northeast section of the First Presbyterian Aid society, only a short space of time was devoted to business and the remainder of the afternoon given over to entertainment features.

Several guessing contests were introduced, but the one yielding the greatest entertainment was the distribution of childhood pictures of those present, with identities to be guessed. The climax of the afternoon came when all were privileged to visit the gardens of the home, where wonderful flowers, an aviary of singing birds, a sunken garden with lily pads and blooms floating on a pool, all contributed to the delight of the guests.

Ice cream and cake were served at the ten hour, by the hostess, Mrs. Watkins, and the committee, Mrs. J. H. Nicholson, Mrs. Addie Collins, Mrs. L. F. Hafer, Mrs. Clyde Bach and Mrs. George Rowell.

Capistrano V. L. I.

Members of Capistrano Institute, No. 104, Y. L. I. are looking forward to a busy and delightful month of May, many coming events having been announced at Tuesday night's meeting in Knights of Columbus hall.

The most important will be the official visit of the grand president, Mrs. Beth Sullivan, on May 10, when the institute plans to honor her coming with a dinner, Mrs. J. P. Murphy and Mrs. George Ravenkamp being the chairmen of the committees.

On May 3 the grand president will visit Anaheim Institute, and on May 4 a delegation will accompany the president of Capistrano Institute, Mrs. Stella Engelmann, to Los Angeles.

Arrangements are now in progress for delegation of 30 to go to San Diego on Saturday, May 7, in a special stage to attend the district convention. Capistrano's drill team members, in their beautiful new white silk uniforms, under the direction of Miss Clara Biesener, will enter the contest. The trophy will be a silver cup presented by Father Sullivan. The delegation will return Sunday night.

A card party will be given in May by the drill team, and together with regular meetings, the month will be entirely filled. The Rev. Father Connolly, pastor of St. Ann's parish, who with his sister, is leaving soon for a trip to Ireland, was given a gift of $25 towards his journey.

Mrs. William Castler was received as a new member. After adjournment, the drill team practiced. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served by the committee.

A panama hat is the costume of headwear, according to a group of Paris scientists who recently made tests. At 97 degrees Fahrenheit, the temperature beneath a cap was found to be 98.6, a felt hat 86 and a panama only 77.

Honolulu Guest Will Be Entertained Here

A number of Santa Anans will remember with warm interest, the visit here some two or three summers ago, of Mrs. C. S. Goodnight of Honolulu, who was a house-guest of Mrs. Elmer Barr Burns, at 916 Sprague street.

Mrs. Burns was delighted to learn that her friend had arrived in Los Angeles a few days ago, and will be in Santa Ana next week for a few days' visit with her. Yesterday, Mrs. Goodnight entertained a few Los Angeles friends at a bridge luncheon given in the Mary Louise tea room, and Mrs. Burns motored in for the function.

The charming Islander came to the States at Christmas time, accompanying her husband on a trip to Seattle and thence across the continent to Cleveland, New York and Washington, D. C. Mr. Goodnight returned to the Islands in the late winter, where his wife will join him after a few weeks in California.

Special Rates for Club Convention

Orange county delegates to the convention of the state Federation of Women's clubs are notified by the Southern Pacific that special trains to Sacramento have been arranged for.

There will be a train out of Los Angeles, carrying 125 delegates, May 3 at 7:50 a. m., arriving the same day at 9:20 p. m., and missing one day of the convention, at a fare of $16.25. A train bearing the Riverside county delegates will leave Los Angeles at 6:05 p. m. May 2 and arriving in Sacramento at 9:10 a. m., May 3. This rate will be $21.70 and passengers must have berths. The party rate tickets have a limit of fourteen days, routing one way via San Francisco.

Arrangements may be made with the local Southern Pacific office, which will make reservations for berths and asks to be notified as soon as possible.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

A called meeting of all Daughters of the Confederacy and other southerners, has been announced by Mrs. Cornelia Phillips, president, for Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, in the home of Mrs. Mayfield, 419 French street. At that time, plans will be formulated for a volunteer entertainment as a benefit for the flood sufferers.

A May Breakfast

will be the unique affair to be presented on Wednesday, May 4, by the Woman's Union of the Congregational church. The breakfast will be held in the basement dining room of the church, from 6:30 to 8 a. m., and on the same day, a merchants' lunch will be served from 11:30 a. m. until 1:30 p. m. A sale of fancywork and household articles will be held.

CHILDREN'S PAPER
DEFENDANT IN SUIT

BERLIN, April 29.—Dr. Otto Gessler, Minister of Defense, finds himself in the somewhat unusual position of fighting a children's paper.

The minister is suing the editor of Der Kinderfreund (The Children's Friend) for slandering the German army in a pacifistic article entitled "Love Your Neighbor," in which occurred the sentence, "To be a soldier means to become a professional murderer of one's fellow men."

Der Kinderfreund is a weekly juvenile supplement to the Socialist daily Volkszeitung fuer Meissen. The result of the suit is awaited with intense interest. Many authorities express doubt that the slander and libel laws, strict as they are, were ever intended to cover such generalities.

QUEEN'S SOLUTION

LONDON, April 29.—The Princess Elizabeth, infant daughter of the Duke and Duchess of York, prefers the expensive pearls of her grandmother, Queen Mary, for teething exercise. But the queen, concerned about the welfare of her jewels, bought several strings of imitation ones, and wears them when she holds the baby.

Germans Lured to Wide Open Spaces
By Mild Weather

times this year, and every spell of mild weather has been the occasion of a big outpouring of youth athletes to engage in the various games and exercises which appeal to the German sport lover, among which tennis is a prime favorite, with golf as yet only a minor diversion.

The outdoor appeal is also strongly to be observed in the city streets. With the first mild days in late March the cafes set out their sidewalk tables, and the orgy of outdoor eating and drinking was on for the season.

The milder April weather, in the intervals of showers, has intensified the craze, and by the time the summer tourist season arrives a goodly proportion of the residents of the larger cities and numbers of the smaller towns will be seen taking at least the greater part of their light refreshment in the open.

Germany to Bar
Jazz Band Visits

BERLIN, April 29.—Germany, like many other European countries, has put up the bar against the hordes of foreign jazz band artists who come here to play in movie theater, restaurant and coffee house orchestras and rob thousands of unemployed German musicians of a chance to earn a living.

The foreign office has instructed its consulates abroad that no visas are to be given to musicians for a stay of more than six months in Germany unless municipal authorities issue an employment permit.

The order does not apply to conductors or orchestras desiring to tour the country.

SWIM IN ICE WATER

LAKE GEORGE, N. Y., April 29.—Snow and icy water mean nothing to the swimming sex boys on its favorite recreation. Bernice and Phyllis Zitzenfeld, New York twins, in their teens, spent 10 minutes in Lake George when the mercury registered 33 during snow furies. It was just a little practice for a marathon in July.

Recent Bride Honored By Garden Shower At Garden Party

Gardens played a prominent part in a recent delightful affair planned by Mrs. A. M. Robinson as a compliment to Mrs. E. Neil Stanley, formerly Miss Dorothy Greene for not only was the afternoon spent in the garden, but the bride honoree was showered with delightful garden gifts.

Mrs. Robinson's many beautiful flowers and graceful plants made an ideal setting for shower which came when Master Billy Robinson, small son of the home, in correct gardener's outfit, trundled a small wagon across the grass, drawing it up before Mrs. Stanley.

In the wagon were plants, seeds and bulbs, gardening tools and gloves, flower baskets and countless other articles designed for garden use or beauty. Then came the second surprise of the afternoon, when a number of attractive pieces of kitchen ware in the popular Pyrex were produced and given to Mrs. Stanley and to another youthful matron, Mrs. William Weeks, formerly Miss Virginia Russell.

For entertainment, the guests were given tea towels and kitchen holders to hem and ornament, and these were later divided between Mrs. Stanley and Mrs. Weeks. As they devoted their time to needlework there was music. Mrs. J. P. Williams and Mrs. Leon Des Larzes of Orange, each singing several lovely numbers. Miss Mayme Havens was accompanist for Mrs. Williams and Miss E. Hawkins, for Mrs. Des Larzes.

At the tea hour, way was led to a delightful big porch on the second floor of the home, where admiration was divided between the remarkable view afforded and the sheltering pepper tree whose graceful branches gave privacy and seclusion. Flowers were used everywhere, and in their midst small tables were placed so the guests sat in intimate groups to enjoy sandwiches, coffee, a variety of cakes, nuts, bonbons, and ices served in fascinating little flower pots, with blossoms nodding from them. Mrs. Robinson's two young daughters, the Misses Elizabeth and Dorothy, served the refreshments.

Enjoying the varied pleasures of the afternoon, with hostess and honoree, were the latter's mother, Mrs. J. P. Greene, Mrs. William Weeks, Mrs. William Taylor Jr., Miss Irene Catland, Mrs. J. P. Williams, Mrs. M. M. Holmes, Miss Gertrude Ballou, Mrs. Eugenia Rutherford, Mrs. Margaret Hardin, Miss Mayme Havens, Mrs. W. H. Garrison, all of this city, Mrs. Leon Des Larzes and Miss E. Hawkins, Orange.

KIWANIANS PRESENT FIRST OF SUMMER PARTY SERIES

Kiwanians were the most fortunate folk in the city yesterday, for all day they knew the pleasure of anticipating the park and theater party with which their spring season opened, and as evening approached, the joys of realization were theirs. By 4 o'clock dozens of prosper Kiwanian-looking automobiles were treading the road to Orange county park, and half an hour later, an exciting baseball game was under way between the Slims, captained by E. L. Vegely, and the Fats, with Fred Blauer at their head; tennis was holding the interest of others gathered at the courts, and devotees of horseshoe pitching were warming up in the section devoted to quots.

Excitement at Game Probably the largest crowd was gathered for the ball game where the onlookers were treated to countless thrills. It was exciting to see E. E. Steffenson run; Dr. H. MacVicker Smith go out on the prettiest fly you ever saw; Ed Vegely, in stripped denim jumpers, chase through the dust after a hot one; President Orllyn Robertson shed coat, vest, collar, tie, glasses and dignity in order to put some swift balls over the plate; Bob Fernandez chew gum furiously as an aid to pitching ability—but why enumerate? Everything was exciting. Even Ivey Stein's shudder when Major M. Burr Wellington, declared, some place in the twenty-fourth inning, that the game wouldn't be a success unless someone walloped the umpire. Stein was umpire, declaring in favor of the Slims at a score of 14 to 10.

Those in the original lineup for baseball, were F. C. Blauer, captain; Orllyn Robertson, pitcher; George Wells, A. H. T. Taylor, E. A. Noe, Eli Singer, W. V. Whitson and George Stovall, with E. E. Steffenson, Dr. Smith and several others entering from time to time. On Vegely's side, were W. L. Kelly, Bob Fernandez, Fred Newcom, M. Burr Wellington, Charles Walker, R. F. Peet, C. E. Desserly, Arnold Peet, on the original lineup, with R. P. Preston and others as extras. Score was kept by Horace Fine.

Young Baritone Is Complimented at Studio Party

In order to pay tribute to Robert Bradford, well-known young baritone of this city, who has returned home bearing many laurels from recent vocal contests, sponsored by the National Federation of Music clubs, his teacher, Madame Manuela V. Budrow, gave a delightful reception in his honor Wednesday night at her studio in the Greenleaf building.

The guests were Madame Budrow's pupils, all of whom regard the talented young singer with great affection and are watching his career with intense interest.

Madame Budrow had decorated the studio artistically with a profusion of magnificent pink roses and fragrant honeysuckles. The pink color motif was carried out also in the refreshments of ice cream and pink and white cakes.

After congratulations had been showered upon "Bobby" who was victor in all of the Pacific coast try-outs, he told the story of his trip.

In Chicago, where the federation held its national convention, he felt that he did not have a fair trial, as instead of being pitted against baritones, he sang against five tenors, and sang but one song, when seven had been the regular contestants.

However, as he was told by his teacher, "shooting stars never get anywhere," and thinks that perhaps it was best that he did not win in Chicago, as he has come home with a great incentive to hard work. He will remain here for the next year, under Madame Budrow, and taking up the study of Italian and French. He will then go to Italy to study under some of the great masters and attend operas and other musical functions. Madame Budrow feels that then the young singer will be fitted to start a successful career.

Castell, a famous teacher of Baltimore, heard young Bradford sing, and complimented him highly upon his musicianship, as did other authorities in Chicago, who heard him, and his eastern competitor, who won the contest, paid him the high tribute of saying that he thought Bradford should have been selected instead of himself.

Those present at the party honoring him, besides his teacher, were Mrs. Hazel Miller Le Page, Mrs. H. Horner, Mrs. Louise Schroeder, the Misses Lucille Dykman, Hortense Daniels, Catherine Maroon, Dorothy Maroon, Matilda Daniels, Blanche Hillman, Adah Ruth Ellis, Jessie Christensen, Esther Morgan, Louise Budrow, Wells, A. Smith; Messrs. Ronald Buell, Arthur Smith, Joe Sanchez, Edward Delgado, Lawrence Sewney, Harold Walberg, Gordon Drew, H. Buckman, Theodore Bach, Gordon McComber, Kenneth Workman, Carl Wollenman and H. Shroeder.

15-YEAR OLD BRIDE ORDERED HELD BY COURT

The old saying that "the woman pays" has never had much to do with perjury charges that grow out of marriages involving girls of tender years, local court officials say.

It was always the man who pungled up. Legal punishment applied only to him.

But today marked a change, so far as Orange county is concerned. When Edward E. Livermore, 25, of Sawtelle, came before Superior Judge E. J. Marks and asked for leniency in connection with a perjury charge, the court ordered the girl, Viola Wheeler Livermore, 15, held in custody also. She was turned over to the juvenile authorities.

Viola and her parents were much surprised. It was said that they had thought, when they swore to the complaint against Livermore, that only he would be punished, and that his sentence would result in annulment of the marriage. None of which has happened, so far.

The couple came to Santa Ana to wed last January 7. Viola's age being represented as 18. They lived together briefly, their marriage a secret, even from Viola's parents. Then a policeman started paying attention to Viola and her husband objected. The policeman couldn't see why. Trouble ensued. The marriage and the perjury were discovered. Today Livermore and his young bride were standing before the judge, being questioned. When the girl started to turn away, Livermore reached for her hand, but she shook him off in disdain.

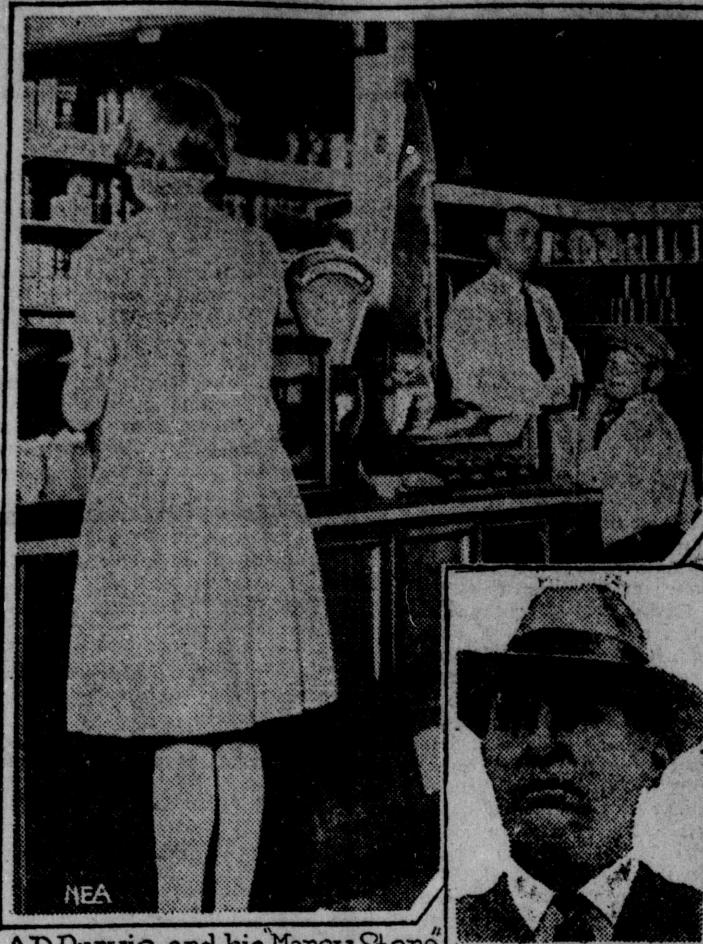

Livermore's plea for probation will be decided two weeks from today, it was announced.

Tax Collecting Difficult Task

BERLIN, April 29.—The German finance ministry is finding it increasingly hard to collect all of the numerous varieties of federal taxes.

Despite the efforts of 70,000 officials the books show that $170,000,000 is owed the government, a sum which would pay half the reparations bill this year.

Business

WALLER, Tex., April 29.—Acting on the Biblical exhortation, "Sell all thou hast and follow Me," A. D. Purvis, a cotton farmer, has succeeded in one of the most remarkable merchandising ventures ever recorded in America.

In June, 1915, Purvis got his idea. He came to Waller and opened a store. He called it "God's Mercy Store."

People passed and wondered. A few of the braver souls went inside. There they learned that every article of merchandise was marked with figures that represented the cost of the article. Purvis told them they either could buy at cost price, or add whatever they cared, as profit for the store.

"I left it all to them," he says. "They began handing me a little change—and that I thanked them for. Then everyone who knew me well decided that 10 per cent on top of the cost was about right. Many began paying that."

"Some could figure it, and some asked me to figure the percentage for them. The store wasn't for profit, and I told them all so, but we go along, and the business grew."

"All we figure," Purvis added, "is the cost of the goods, the freight and the clerk hire."

"God's Mercy Store" has prospered. The store that started with $100 worth of merchandise, now has stock worth $15,000. Last year the sales were around $100,000.

The owner of "God's Mercy Store" is not a "religious man," he says. Neither he nor any of his family belongs to any of the churches here. Says Purvis:

"My only religion is the truth, the Bible and to do good unto my fellow man and to follow the promptings of the inner spirit."

KU KLUX KLAN TO DELIVER MESSAGE

Santa Anans were greeted today with a number of orange colored cards, apparently distributed about the streets, announcing that within a week a message will be forthcoming from the Ku Klux Klan.

What the message will contain is left for the reader to imagine. The card in full is as follows:

"Do you know that in another week will come a message from the Ku Klux Klan? Look for the Fiery Cross of Peace. We stand in defense of American rights. Give Mexico the same privilege. Let there be no war."

Local members of the Klan interviewed today claimed to know nothing of the existence of the cards.

Adoption Makes Boy Own Uncle

SAN FRANCISCO, April 29.—Some legal gymnastics deserving of a place in an "Ask Me Another" book were performed in the court of Judge Frank Murasky, when 3-year-old Billie Ramsay became his own uncle.

This came about when the petition of his grandmother, Mrs. Nettie Thamas, to legally adopt Billie as her son, was granted.

Billie cannot lose his legal identification as a grandson and therefore assumes the title of both. The petition stated that the grandmother practically had reared the child from birth, owing to the early separation of the parents.

French Faces On Dolls Protested

LONDON, April 29.—After the hue and cry against American moving pictures, London has discovered a new form of "foreign penetration" to become alarmed about.

This time it is the invasion of wax dress models from France. One importer of these figures declares all dress models are made in France by French workmen, and the chief difficulty is to teach the artisans to put English faces on the models.

CONSTIPATED SO BADLY DIDN'T KNOW WHAT TO DO

All kinds of medicine failed—then ALL-BRAN saved him!

Read this tribute from a grateful user:

"I have been using Kellogg's ALL-BRAN now for about a year and a half. I was so badly constipated that I did not know what to do. One day I read about Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, went to the store and bought me a package. It did me good and I am using it regularly. I had tried all kinds of medicine but that failed. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN surely saved me."

Very thankful,
C. D. POLKES, Argo, Ill.

Constipation ravages health. Check it before its poisons soak through your system. Blotchy skin, unpleasant breath, headaches—are just a few vile symptoms.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN will relieve constipation permanently. Two tablespoonsful daily in chronic cases, with every meal. Guaranteed.

Serve ALL-BRAN with milk or cream—and add fruits or honey. Ready to eat. Use in cooking. Sold and served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Recipes on package.

NEWS WRITERS OF POLY HIGH GO TO MEETING

Twenty students of the Santa Ana high school left today to attend the spring meeting of the Southern California High School Press association at Santa Monica. The Santa Ana delegation was composed of staff writers on both the weekly Generator and the annual Ariel publications.

Copies of the Generator of the March 25 issue have been entered in the contest, held annually, to select the best school papers of the Southland.

Last year, the Santa Ana school paper was awarded first place in its classification and William Wilkinson, journalism instructor, is confident that the paper would again rank high in the judging this year. The contest will be conducted along different lines than previously. Instead of ranking the papers according to all-around merit, the judges are to decide on the best news stories, features, jokes, editorials and makeup appearance.

Miss Eleanor Turner, editor of the Generator, and David Roberts, editor of the Ariel, headed the Santa Ana delegation.

A program, including speeches by newspaper publisher and popular lecturers, has been arranged by the Santa Monica high school Geoffrey Morgan, nationally known lecturer, is one of the speakers.

In the morning the general sessions are to be held. The convention is to be divided into discussion groups in the afternoon. Wilkinson will give a report at the faculty section meeting on the selection of journalism students. A special section will be held for the staff members of annual publications.

Officers of the association will be elected at the business sessions. At the same time, the place of meeting for next year's convention will be decided. The voting delegates for Santa Ana at the business sessions are Miss Eleanor Turner and Miss Mary Arnold, Generator staff editors.

ARCH BEACH HOME RAZED BY FLAMES

Attracting hundreds of persons who were under the impression that Arch Beach was a mass of flames, the residence owned by Miss Mary K. Wing, of Laguna Beach, and located at Agate and Twentieth streets, Laguna Beach, burned to the ground last night. The home was under lease to Ralph G. Miller, Los Angeles attorney.

A large grove of trees surrounding the house caught fire, causing flames to shoot several hundred feet into the air. No one was in the house at the time of the blaze. The cause of the fire is unknown.

QUARTET TO SING ON SUNDAY NIGHT

In celebration of national music week, the quartet of the United Presbyterian church will sing at the Sunday evening service the cantata, "Penitence, Pardon and Peace" (Maumer). It was announced today by the Rev. W. H. McPeak, pastor. According to the minister, the cantata, being presented by request, is a beautiful interpretation of the gospel message and is well adapted to the range of the voices of the singers.

Members of the quartet are Sally Lee Scales, soprano; Miss Mary Henderson, contralto; Orlo W. Householder, tenor, and Elmer Thompson, baritone. Harry T. Warne, director, will preside at the organ.

PHONE AIDS RAIDERS
BOSTON, April 29.—The liquor squad of the Boston police force has utilized telephones in its drive against speakeasies and gambling dens. The "buyer" for the liquor squad enters a suspected building carrying a tiny transmitter with wires attached. With this he can signal to the raiders when the time is right for their entrance.

Court Notes

Denied Probation

Leroy Robinson, who pleaded guilty to bootlegging, was denied probation today by Superior Judge E. J. Marks, who sentenced him to a term of five months in the county jail. Robinson admitted selling liquor on March 31.

Prisoner Dismissed

With A. Gonzales, formerly of Anaheim, serving a county jail sentence on a misdemeanor charge of carrying a concealed weapon, a felony charge, involving the same transaction, was dismissed today by Superior Judge E. J. Marks at the motion of Deputy District Attorney Sam L. Collins.

Gonzales was arrested in Anaheim recently, a blackjack being found in his possession. Under one section of the statutes, he was charged with a felony, because of the fact that he is not an American citizen. Subsequently, the lesser charge, filed under another section which applies to any person, whether citizen or alien, was substituted.

Prosecution Dropped

Prosecution of Dr. J. A. Allard, of Anaheim, charged with practicing dentistry without a state license, was dropped today in Superior Judge E. J. Marks' court. Both of two charges filed against Dr. Allard were dismissed at the motion of the district attorney's office. The defendant was recently tried on one of the charges, the jury failing to agree.

The New York Yankees-Boston Red Sox game was called off because of cold.

Gave Old Timers Big Thrill In Los Angeles Board Track Classic

LOS ANGELES, Calif., April 29.—Over in Paris, Mile. Maurice Mozzette was an opera singer of considerable repute. But she craved thrills.

So Mile. Mozzette took up auto racing. Opera shawls were discarded for a helmet and goggles. At first, European promoters barred her. Auto races were dangerous enough without a woman in them, they said. But after many demonstrations of her ability, she was given a permit to drive in competition. Now she has come to the United States.

"I never have driven in a big American race," Mile. Mozzette said. "I drove much in Europe and South America. Now I want to compete in the United States. The drivers here don't want me. I guess they are afraid I will cause an accident on the track. But I am a good racer and sometimes win."

Likes Dirt Tracks

"I never have driven on a board track. I do not think I would like the boards. They go so fast—but do not have nearly the thrills we have on dirt tracks."

It was only through a ruse that the French driver secured permission to enter a big race here. She entered her car under an assumed name for a short race at Ascot recently and had a man qualify for her. She drove on to the track just before the race started, her racing toes sufficiently masking her feminine appearance.

Gave Them Race

No one knew there was a woman in the race until it was finished. Mile. Mozzette didn't win but she placed well up toward the front and showed that she was an experienced driver.

"Of course, I haven't given up my vocal work," declares the singer. "I still practice my singing regularly, often while I am through driving, in two or three years, I will return to the stage."

Mile. Mozzette plans to tour the east and middle west this summer, leaving here after the 250-mile classic.

Indians Found to Be Misunderstood

BERKELEY, April 29.—Indians are the most misunderstood people in the world. Even their name is a mistake, Cary W. Hartman, whose life has been devoted to studying the original Americans, said here in an address recently.

Familiar words such as "pa-poose" and "squaw" are found in none of the 226 distinct languages spoken by American Indians today, he said.

These languages, though simple, containing only from 300 to 400 words in the vocabulary, are adequate for expression and eloquent oratory and the Indian is far from the silent individual he is supposed to be.

Indians have a keen but peculiar sense of humor, he said.

The general impression is that the Indian is unmotional and without feeling, Hartman told his hearers. "More Indians die of broken hearts than from any cause by the white man's disease."

WATER LEVELS DECLINE FAST ACCORDING TO COL. S. H. FINLEY

Orange County Supervisor Delivers Address Before Riverside County C. of C.

PRADO DAM PLANS OUTLINED IN TALK

Neighbor Says Co-operation To Be Extended in Future As It Has in Past

The last fifty years have witnessed the decline of water levels from artesian wells that spouted 20 feet above ground to the present deep well pumping of from 60 to 200 feet below the surface, said Col. S. H. Finley, in explaining Orange county's purpose in proposing to erect a huge dam at Prado in the mouth of the Santa Ana canyon.

Finley, a supervisor of Orange county, made his address to nearly 100 members of the Riverside County Chamber of Commerce gathered in Parkridge Country Club yesterday noon.

The next fifty years, he declared, will probably witness the water level so low that pumping will be impossible and the intrusion of salt water from the ocean quite probable.

The remedy, as far as Orange county is concerned, said Finley, is to conserve the waste waters of the Santa Ana and not allow a drop of that river to be wasted in the ocean. The project was suggested ten years ago, he said, and laughed at, but today a survey by L. Lippincott, water conservation engineer, proves that the dam is practical and the only economic remedy facing Orange county.

Cost Will Be Large

Approximate cost of the dam, purchase of lands affected, moving of the Santa Fe railway at that point and the purchase of spreading grounds below the dam would be $5,000,000, he asserted. The reservoir thus made would hold about 174,000 acre feet of water.

"Even this vast storage will not make possible the extension of our irrigated area," said Finley. "We must look further for water and our natural source is the Colorado river. With that supply finally available and the waters of our own hills checked and made to flow back into the underground levels, this territory of the South could be made to support 10,000,000 people. At present, with all the waters of the Santa Ana saved, there is not enough water for 3,000,000."

"Since I came to Orange county 49 years ago, the water levels have been falling at the rate of two feet each year. In desperation the Southland must check the criminal waste that flows into the ocean after every storm. Because

UNITED STATES SENATOR HIRAM W. JOHNSON

W.C.T.U. ESSAY CONTEST GOES ON DAM FIGHT TO LOIS REED

Miss Lois Reed of the Frances E. Willard Junior High school won first prize of $10 in an essay contest recently conducted by the Santa Ana W. C. T. U. The subject for the essay was "The Steps from 1825 to 1920 by Which the United States Came to National Prohibition of the Liquor Traffic." Others to win prizes in the essay division were Elizabeth Riniker of Willard, second; and Florence Resnick of Julia Lathrop, third.

Last night Senator Johnson spoke to several thousand people in Los Angeles and his next great speaking effort in behalf of the dam will be in Santa Ana. Reservations may be made at the chamber of commerce offices and a large crowd from over the country is expected. The banquet preceding his talk will start at 6:30 p.m.

Johnson is described as having lost none of his vim and vigor to attack what he considers the enemies of the Boulder dam bill with the same unstinting enthusiasm as he has displayed in the past.

In Los Angeles, Senator John-

GETTING NEXT TO MEN

Lungfuls of Wisdom Exhaled by Vandermast

A New York Orator longs for the return of the era when men were men and wore whiskers. Which would mean no flaming youth, no zest for changes in modes of living, no gossip about short skirts or floppy trousers, and so on, he hopes. We might agree, but, unfortunately, a decoration of black crepe does not fit the color scheme of the Vandermast store.

Cranial deficiencies may soon be covered up in a new straw hat. Yes, it's just about that time. Just remember that Vandermast spilled the beans today and we'll elaborate a little more later on.

The shirts styles of today would probably be condemned by the New York speechmaker, because they're plenty frisky and speedy. Eagle, Grayco and Brunson have abandoned themselves to novelty patterns that make a lot of difference in a fellow's looks. And don't cost so much, either—$2.00, $2.50 and up to $5.00.

Men's socks may not be quite as prominent as their feminine contemporaries, but there's no comparison when it comes to loud-speaking patterns. Interwoven fancies in lisle and rayon at 50c, and all the silks at 75c and $1.

Young Men like the three-button coats. There's no set rule, though, the main idea being to wear the style of coat that looks best on you.

Next week is "Baby Week," but a boy would have to be pretty small before we'd have the nerve to suggest that that had anything to do with the boy-man styles in Vandermast's boys' shop.

Kayne is a name to swear by in boys' wearables. Kayne blouses and shirts, and the smart new styles in wash suits. The greatest care in their making. Details are perfect. Colors are guaranteed. It's a fine line of clothes.

Boys' clothes cost less this year. Chorus from parents: "Thank goodness."

If they start to open bathing beauty contests with lectures on "the good old days," we'll throw all of our Jantzen Swimming Suits in the outfit. They're modern in every stitch.

"SMILIN' THRU" FINAL PLAY BY LOCAL PLAYERS

Happy Ending of Famous Vehicle Will Symbolize Successful Season Here

"Smilin' Thru" seemed the logical play with which to complete the Community Players' season, today declared George Gerwing, director of Santa Ana Community Players, as he discussed his cast and play in the "green room" of the Temple theater.

"We have aimed to entertain our audiences throughout the season, and we feel that the climax of entertainment will be reached in 'Smilin' Thru.' It is like 'Huldy' in the old poem we all knew when we were children, 'Kinda smiley round the lips and teary 'round the lashes,' and because it has the smile and tear so well divided, it promises to be the outstanding play of the season."

And continuing his reasons for stating that "Smilin' Thru" to be given May 10, 11, 12 and 13, at the Temple theater, was logical choice for a season's final offering, Gerwing recalled the various phases and types of plays which have been given on the local amateur stage.

Many Offerings

It will be amazing to patrons of the plays, to recall the widely diverging themes of the offerings of the past half dozen seasons. Romantic comedy dramas have included "The Fortune Hunter," "Nothing But the Truth," "Good Gracious Annabelle," "The Country Cousin," "Dulcy," "Three Wise Fools," "The Boomerang," "The First Year," "Enter Madame," "The White Town's Talking," and "You and I."

For lovers of fantasy, there have been "The Maker of Dreams," "The Yellow Jacket," "Dover Road," and Captain Applejack." Mystery dramas have been represented by "The Thirteenth Chair," and "Whispering Wires," while "Potash and Perlmutter" and "The Bad Man" represent forays into dialect plays which might also include "Enter Madame."

Three Directors

This array of entertaining, amusing and instructive plays, has presented under but three directors in the half dozen years, Ernest Crozier Phillips, George Gerwing and Eloise Sterling of Pasadena. The latter came last year in the emergency created by Director Phillips having to resign his position because of increased duties at Santa Ana high school and junior college, and the absence of George Gerwing who was first on tour with "What Price Glory" and later directing plays in San Francisco.

Choice of "Smilin' Thru" as the final play of the season, was dictated by a desire to give the public a romantic play, noted for stage and screen success, and with the traditional "happy ending" to correspond with the happy ending of the season.

Tickets for the production will soon go on sale at the Santa Ana bookstore. The first three days of the seat sale will be for holders of season tickets. After that, they will be available to the general public.

The scorers were kept busy while the Philadelphia Americans piled up a 15 to 7 victory over Washington and also at Pittsburgh, here the Chicago Cubs beat the Pirates, 16 to 4.

OCEAN FLYERS TO CARRY LIFEBOAT

Here's the frail sort of inflated lifeboat on which trans-Atlantic flyers will depend in the event of a plane breakdown and a plunge into the ocean. This one carries (left to right) Lieutenant George Noville, Commander Richard Byrd, and Warrant Officer Floyd Bennett, whose proposed New York-to-Paris flight was prevented by the "cracking up" of their plane, the "America," on a test flight.

THROUGH TRAFFIC PROBLEM SUBJECT OF SURVEY BEING MADE FOR THIS COMMUNITY

By MRS. CLARA CUSHMAN
(Secretary of Santa Ana Planning Commission)

Every once in awhile a word which has been lying idly by in the dictionary for a good many years, is suddenly, through some fresh impetus, dragged out and made to go to work. Such is the word "by-pass," which has recently been put into such active use by students of the traffic angle of city and regional planning.

A by-pass, of course, is a side or secondary passage, and when used in connection with traffic regulation, indicates a highway designed to carry motor vehicles whose purpose of travel is not local, through the city or region, with the least possible inconvenience and expense and the greatest possible benefit to be derived therefrom.

The aim is, by diverting other non-local traffic from business centers, to give those vehicles that desire contact with local business, the greatest ease in obtaining it. This may be accomplished in two ways.

One method often used and advocated is through the construction of a regional boulevard leading into the city, of sufficient width to handle going and outgoing traffic, then to provide for a scattering of traffic within the city, proper, by means of a series of signs at various intersecting points, the choice of a highway through the city proper thus being left to the individual driver. So the vehicles with no business to transact in the business area would not hamper the vehicles engaged on local errands, and on the other hand local business and industry would not be hampered by congestion. Further, there would be an equitable distribution of the traffic on business bent, over the business area, so that no one street would be unduly favored.

Other Methods

The other method of handling the through traffic problem is to divert vehicles of this character entirely away from the business centers by means of the by-pass, that is, by the continuation of the regional boulevard at an advantageous point or advantageous points through the outskirts of the city.

This plan is based upon the conviction held by its advocates that since the automobile has become a competitor of the steam train and the trolley car, such traffic is a serious liability to any community instead of an asset, if it is encouraged to go through the downtown business district at all, unless it has an actual purpose there, in which case it does not need to be lead there.

This plan is based upon the conviction held by its advocates that since the automobile has become a competitor of the steam train and the trolley car, such traffic is a serious liability to any community instead of an asset, if it is encouraged to go through the downtown business district at all, unless it has an actual purpose there, in which case it does not need to be lead there.

The other method of handling the through traffic problem is to divert vehicles of this character entirely away from the business centers by means of the by-pass, that is, by the continuation of the regional boulevard at an advantageous point or advantageous points through the outskirts of the city.

WEST COAST-WALKER

For sheer excitement, thrills and suspense, "Canyon of Light" the feature picture which had its first showing at the West Coast-Walker theater this afternoon, will be hard to surpass. With Tom Mix in the star role and Dorothy Dwan in the feminine lead, plus a fine cast and an absorbing story, and with Tony, the wonder horse, playing a prominent part, this is one western that is sure to please every type of theater patron. Add to this, the wild beauty of the backgrounds, for this picture was filmed in Yellowstone National park, and the result is an entertainment long to be remembered.

One of the most thrilling sequences in the picture is the wreck of an old boom town, a mere ghost city, the haunt of the desperadoes where Tom fights it out with the gang. Whole buildings are wrecked in the hand-to-hand battle.

On the stage is another big Fanchon and Marco vaudeville bill, featuring a group of specialty artists selected from the larger circuits. These acts include comedy, song and dance numbers.

Bobby Wolf and his band are featured in "Bits of Jazz and Classic."

YOST BROADWAY THEATER

The Yost Broadway theater vaudeville program of stage entertainment is reported to be one of the best balanced bills of the current vaudeville season. It is a dash-and-vigor bill—one that moves with dash and vigor every minute. All of the acts have merit and music, dancing, singing and comedy all have their place on the program.

The bill is topped by the Grant and Wallace Revue introducing the latest creations in song and dance. It is a long jump from music to athletics but Grant and Wallace, two versatile boys make it in one bound. They are acrobats, dancers and saxophone players.

Mack Brown and Frances Elaine, "laugh pirates," with comedy prank and song, next in importance. Miss Elaine is a dashing chieftain of pirate craft who meets her match in one of the pirate crew.

"Daddy" is a farcical sketch having to do with the worries of a gentleman who is shortly to become a father. The scene is the waiting room of a hospital and since the business of becoming a father always seems to be funny

INSIDE FACTS ON DAM FIGHT TO BE REVEALED

son was quoted as saying:

"We were confronted in the last season of congress by the determined and bitter misrepresentation and opposition of the most powerful financial aggregation the nation has ever seen—the hydro-electric power trust."

"We uncovered the real opposition to the Swing-Johnson bill as exemplified in Senator Phipps of Colorado, and we dramatized to the United States the Boulder Dam project. We transmuted what was deemed a mere local project into a great national issue."

"When we were girding ourselves for the struggle against the most powerful opposition that ever presented itself to a measure in the senate, suddenly from Los Angeles were sent a multitude of telegrams to senators and congressmen reciting the possibility of a flood in the Imperial valley. Los Angeles was put in the position of apparently demanding for Imperial valley that the congress should in reality halt the permanent work and put aside the agreed upon project."

"I had no hesitancy in explaining then, and I have no hesitancy in explaining to you now, that the telegrams in the main in my opinion were sent in ignorance of the true situation, not with a design of retarding the Boulder dam project or of preventing its enactment, but that the sinister man and newspaper behind the scheme knew full well the effect of what they were doing, and utilized the sympathy and emotion of the good people and the various organizations of Los Angeles for their own base ends. I do not hesitate to grapple with the hydro-electric power trust, though it represents $7,000,000,000 and insolently seeks to exercise a veto power upon the government of the United States; but I do fear the enemy within our gates, the treacherous men and the treacherous newspapers in the state of California."

"I cannot too often say, nor too much emphasize that the power provision in the bill is the product of the present administration, written into the bill by the secretary of the interior and accepted by the authors of the bill because required by him."

Will Be Variable Body
That the lake formed by the dam will be a variable body and probably unfit for recreational purposes was brought out in the discussion following Finley's address. Water cannot be entirely shut off because of prior rights of irrigators in the lower parts of the river. The object of the dam will be to check the water until it can percolate into the gravel beds and to save all storm water from wasting into the ocean. The lake, following storms, will flood probably 6000 acres of land between Corona and the Santa Ana hills but will rapidly fall when the storm ceases.

Whether the lands inundated, highly agricultural now, would be valuable for Riverside county taxes, was questioned by several from this county.

President Youngliffe presided at the meeting introducing the Orange county supervisors, S. H. Finley, William Schumacher and John Mitchell, and George Raymer, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce.

signed highways, where garage, oil stations, cafes and other businesses directly catering to such class, may locate; while the dry goods merchant, the furniture dealer, and like merchants, will be protected.

Serious Congestion
One of the chief contentions of the advocates of the by-pass is that the traffic situation is leading to such serious congestion that traffic must be diverted in this way or the main streets widened. But the expense of widening a street already lined with permanent buildings would be excessive. The by-pass could be built sufficiently wide in the first place or widened with comparative ease.

These two methods of course may be, and are often combined.

The problem is of great local interest at present, because the subject is now being considered by the city planning consultant, Dr. Carol Aronovici, in conjunction with Hugh R. Pomery of the Los Angeles Regional Planning commission, who is formulating a proposed regional plan of traffic for this community.

A number of California cities are now making an actual survey with a view to ascertaining in exact terms the effect of through traffic on local economic conditions; and to ascertain definitely whether such traffic is an asset or liability and to what extent. Berkeley is one of the communities engaged in such study, and a similar survey is now being made in Santa Ana.

They contend that the expense of street upkeep and the loss through down town congestion far exceed in dollars and cents the sums expended within the city by such travelers. The tourist, who is generally interested in scenic effects, the truck driver with his huge loads, the man with an engagement further on—San Diego, Tia Juana or what-not, does not find on down town streets what he is looking for. They will be better served, as will the main streets proper, if they are permitted to travel on specially de-

JERUSALEM IS CROWDED WITH MOTLEY MOBS

of the strong men. On this plain he burned the grain of the Philistines with the foxes and firebrands, and slew so many with a jawbone. Farther along the railroad and high up on a hillside is pointed out the cave where he fled and stayed another great slayer of his enemies mentioned in Judges 15:4-19, and called the cave of the rock Etam. It was in this cave that he was supposed to have had his famous hair cut.

Visits Tomb of Dorcas

The writer says: "I visited the tomb of Dorcas in Joppa and also the house of Simon, the tanner, where Peter healed him vision mentioned in Acts 9 and 10. After leaving Lydda we get a distant view on the left of the Plain of Sharon and then pass into the Vale of Sarek, the scene of fierce fighting during the late war, and also the place where the armies of Saul and the Philistines lay opposite each other and where David slew Goliath."

From this point the railroad leaves the open rolling country and begins to climb up a narrow canyon through the rocky Judean hills. Quoting from the letter: "I never saw such rocky hills in my life. Yet along their sides are still traces of the terraces built on their steep stony sides by ancient Israel, that once were green with grapes and olives and figs, but now are barren, rocky and desolate, a sample of the curse that seems to rest upon this whole country, that was once so rich and blessed of God."

The train winds in and out up to an elevation of about 2800 feet above sea level, on the top of the Judean range. They are called mountains, but to a Californian they are like hills. What they lack in height, they more than make up for in ruggedness and sacred historic associations. At this time of the year—March—the hills are quite green and gloriously carpeted with wild flowers, most conspicuous of which is the blood red "lily of the field," or anemone, just the shape and size of our California poppy. Everywhere in this Holy Land the hills and valleys are crimson with this flower.

Then comes the climax. At last the city of Jerusalem bursts into view, and the dream of a lifetime is realized. Mr. Scott writes: "We gazed with tear-dimmed eyes upon its walls and towers, made sacred by the great men, who have lived and fought and died here in the ages gone by. David and Solomon and the other kings of Judah. But most of all, sacred because here the Man of Galilee walked and taught and died and rose again. So at last we are in Jerusalem, whose glory is past."

"Inside the church of the Holy Sepulchre in Jerusalem, there is a spot which thousands of pilgrims believe is the center of the world. We may smile at their ignorance or conceit as to the geographical center of the world, but I am inclined to believe it is true as to the Christian world for Jerusalem, the Holy City, is the place above all others, where the great events, on which the Christian faith is founded, transpired. It is pre-eminently the sacred city to the Christian world, to the Jew, and second to Mecca, to the Mohammedan world. Throughout the centuries thousands of pilgrims have visited the sacred places and millions more have longed to look upon the city, where priests and prophets and kings have lived and labored."

Where Christ Walked

"But its strongest appeal to the Christian world is that here the Savior of men, the Man of Galilee, walked and talked, suffered and died. Every spot in and about the city is so intimately connected with the life of Jesus."

"While Palestine is nominally under British control, politically the Mohammedans still hold title to the land and property, and still possess and control the sacred places the Crusaders so valiantly fought for and died to regain."

"The Jerusalem one sees today is more or less a modern one that has been built upon the ashes and debris of former Jerusalem, so that a few huge stones in the southeast corner of the city wall are about all that can be absolutely identified with the city of Christ's day. Of course, the general outlines and locations of the sacred places of the old city are quite certainly identified, but one must take with considerable "salt" the traditional sites that the modern guide shows the more modern tourist. Many of the tales and spots are so clearly absurd that they can be labelled "bunk."

"In this Holy Land everything is localized, paganized and commercialized. I mean by this that they have discovered or invented the very spot where every event in sacred history has occurred, then they have built a horrid mosque or church over the spot and charge admittance to see the place. But the trouble is that so many places are shown where the same event took place. For instance, on the Mount of Olives there are no less than half a dozen churches belonging to different sects, each one claiming to be the very spot from which Jesus ascended into Heaven and to beat them all, the Mohammedans have one in the center of which is a rock showing the imprint of a foot, which they claim was made by Jesus as He left the earth. (It costs 25 cents to see this.)

City of Idolatry

"It is too bad that one has to put the question mark after so many things that are told here."

One can be certain, however, that around here somewhere all these things did take place, but to put your finger on the spot is absolutely impossible, and maybe it is well for men are so prone to make idols of spots and places, and worship them. This city reeks with just such idolatry.

"Jerusalem is in two parts. The old city within the city wall, and the modern Jerusalem, which has sprung up and spread itself all over the landscape outside the walls. There is nothing particularly interesting about the newer parts. The buildings are of stone and more or less modern in style. The old city within the walls, is of greater interest and what I write will have to do with that. It is not large, the wall being about a half mile long on either side. One can walk around it in an hour.

"Built upon the top of a ridge it is surrounded on three sides by deep ravines and only on the north side is it approached on the level. It was always on this side that the invading armies attacked the city, for it was well nigh impregnable elsewhere. In Christ's day there were more, but now only seven gates pass through the walls. On the north side there are three, the New gate, the Damascus and Herod's gate. On the east side, St. Stephen's, on the south side, the Dung gate and Zion and on the west side, the Jaffa gate.

"About 25 years ago the German Kaiser made a pilgrimage to Jerusalem and in honor of His Majesty and in preparation for his entrance into the city, the Turks tore down a section of the city wall about 30 feet wide close to the Jaffa gate and made a wide entrance, which is now used by automobiles and most of the traffic, instead of the narrow, crooked Jaffa gate. The autos, however, can only proceed about the length of one block on David street and then turn around and go out, for the streets are so narrow and crooked, and up and down with steps, that they will forever be impassable to autos, for which one cannot help being thankful.

Built of Rock

"With the exception of the Temple area on Mt. Moriah, the city is built up solidly in true oriental style. Every foot of ground is covered with a building of some kind. There are mosques, churches, convents, schools, shops and bazaars, and living quarters for man and beast. Every building in Jerusalem is wholly of rock, that being the only building material in the country, and there is plenty of that. Much of it can be quarried right on the building site.

"The walls are made very thick to carry the arched ceilings and flat roofs or domed tops. In the hotel where I am staying, all of the walls and even the inside partitions are three feet thick. Some of the buildings are three and four stories high and everywhere the church towers and minarets reach skyward to dizzy heights. The stores and shops look more like caves than buildings, owing to the arched ceilings and absence of windows or doors. Many of the streets are arched over and built on above, making them look like tunnels. All of them are dirty and smelly and crowded with a wriggling mass of all kinds of humanity, with sheep, goats, donkeys and camels thrown in for good measure.

"There is only one country that I know of that is worse, and that is China. There you see only Chinese, but here are people from every nation under the sun. Bedouins of the desert, Arabs in their flowing gowns, Greeks, Germans, Jews from every country, South Africans, Sudanese, Armenians, Turks, Assyrians, Europeans of every brand and last but not least droves of tourists, rubbernecks from the United States and everywhere else. Strange sights and sounds, and smells and people. Is this the Holy City? The Golden city of poetry and song and dreams. Can this mess of filth and squalor, and poverty and suffering be Jerusalem? Yes, it is and many come and see it and wish they had never done so, for the city of their dreams is not here. It has gone. Nothing but the dregs remain.

Thing of the Past

"Jerusalem's glory is a thing of the past. It may come again in the future. It is a sore disappointment to many. A celebrated artist once came here to get the local coloring for a great picture and went away sorrowful, saying, 'how much better I could have painted it if I had never seen it.'

"And yet, in spite of its degradation and woe, there is a charm and fascination about it all. The way to see Jerusalem is not from its filthy streets, but from the house tops or towers, or from the Mt. of Olives just across the valley of Cedron. Come up with me to the flat roof of the hotel, four stories high and I will show you everything of interest in Jerusalem. Our hotel is just inside the Jaffa gate and as we stand on the roof facing east, just back of us is the tower of David, right below in front is the pool of Hezekiah, built by that ancient king to supply the city with water. Looking straight east across the city and the valley of the Cedron is the Mt. of Olives, really a long ridge, higher than the city. Down at the foot of the Mt. of Olives is the garden of Gethsemane, still dotted with a few olive trees said to be more than 2000 years old."

"Right before us inside the city is the Temple area, now mostly vacant, but where Solomon's and Herod's temple once stood. The sacred rock in the center of this area is now covered by the Mohammedan mosque, sometimes called the Mosque of Omar, and at the south end of the Temple area is the mosque of El Aksa. The Temple area, comprising about one-sixth of the area of the city, is in the possession and control of the Mohammedans, and no Jew will set foot within it, but on the outside of its wall is the 'Wailing Place' where the faithful Jews mourn over the sacred place, whose glory is departed, and whose desecration has been made complete by the hated Moslem.

"Over here on the right is Mt. Zion, where David's palace and stronghold once stood. Here is the traditional tomb of David. The upper room of the Last Supper and the day of Pentecost, the house of Caphas and the garden where Peter denied his Lord. To the left is the pool of Bethesda, the tower of Antonio, the church of Ecce Homo and the Via Dolorosa leading to the church of the Holy Sepulchre, covering the two spots where Christ was supposed to have been crucified and buried. Just outside the city wall to the north rises the little green hill called "Garden's Calvary" which many believe was the real Golgotha of the Crucifixion and just beyond it is the "Garden Tomb" believed by many to be the real place of burial and resurrection.

Religious Center

"And so in every direction we look, we can see the very locations of the majority of the great events of sacred history. Down in the valley of the Cedron we can see the tomb of Absalom, that of St. James and the tomb of Lazarus, and a little farther down the valley is the pool of Siloam and the Virgin's fountain, the hill of Evil Counsel and Acedama or the Field of Blood, the potter's field bought with Judas' money.

"Surely this city is the religious center of the world's history, full of interest to the thoughtful and devout. Strange to say, this city, wherein the Christian faith was born and from which it went out to all the world, has little real Christianity in it today and is one of the most desperately destitute and discouraging mission fields in the world. It is full of all kinds of religions and faiths, fads andisms. Religious "nuts" from all over the world come here, and build temples as though there were special virtue in Jerusalem. (If they haven't enough money to get to Jerusalem, they settle in Los Angeles.)

LETTER TELLS OF CONDITIONS IN ARKANSAS

Flood conditions in the Mississippi valley were brought nearer to Santa Ana today with the receipt of a letter from Mrs. Mary Stevens, of Clarendon, Ark., mother of Mrs. W. B. Ashford, of 638 North Van Ness street. The letter mailed a week ago today stated that the business section of Clarendon was flooded 20 feet deep with water.

Clarendon is approximately 38 miles from the Mississippi river, according to Mrs. Ashford.

Despite the fact that flood conditions in the valley are the worst in history the letter from Mrs. Stevens carries a cheerful note. Getting food is the main worry of people who are marooned in their homes in Clarendon, according to the letter.

Groceries and other articles can be raked in from the second story window of most any home, according to Mrs. Stevens' letter. Goods in practically all the stores are ruined. Mrs. Stevens saved a coop of chickens, but instead of having them in her back yard they are located on a raft floating just outside the second story windows.

Water broke into Clarendon April 19, according to Mrs. Stevens. She writes that the entire town was awakened by the blowing of whistles and that in a little while the entire town was flooded.

"We are high and dry and if it gets in the second floor there is a third story to the house," Mrs. Stevens writes. She also states that most of the shacks in the towns are being washed away and the town will be rid of a number of "eyesores."

Coffee and sandwiches are being served at the court house, in Clarendon, according to Mrs. Stevens.

"We stand out on our front porch with long poles and rake things in," Mrs. Stevens states.

Merchants in the town were forced to erect scaffolds about their goods to keep them from floating out windows and doors, according to Mrs. Stevens' letter. Many persons in the town lost their entire life savings, she stated.

Mrs. Stevens assured her daughter that she was in safety and is having a good time living on the second story of the house.

The passing of Roger Peckinpah from the Washington club to the Chicago White Sox reminds me that he once figured in one of the most unusual batting performances I have ever seen in the major leagues. Perhaps it would be more correct for me to say that it was the lack of batting that featured Peck's unique afternoon.

In five trips to the plate Peck didn't make so much as even a foul, yet he reached first base in each instance. I do not recall the Philadelphia pitchers who opposed New York that afternoon, Peck being a member of the Yankees, but they all looked alike to him.

Whenever Peck stepped into the batter's box the Athletics pitchers suddenly developed a case of wildness. The first two pitchers would invariably be wide of the plate and Peck would have a decided edge, which in each instance he took advantage of.

Five bases on balls was his record for the day, which falls one short of the major league record held by Walter Wilton. Not once during the afternoon did he swing his bat at a single offering and in each case the count was three balls and two strikes on him when he walked.

Dr. John Wehrly, Santa Ana, president of the Orange County Tuberculosis association, and Mrs. Amelia A. Meagher, executive secretary of the organization, will represent Orange county at the annual meeting of the California Tuberculosis Association, to be held in the Hotel Senator, Sacramento, May 6 and 7, it was announced today at the headquarters of the county association.

Addresses, dealing with the different phases of the tuberculosis situation in California, will be made by prominent speakers at the meeting.

Among these are Dr. Max Rothschild, of the California Sanatorium, Belmont, Calif.; Dr. Stuart Prichard, Battle Creek Sanatorium, Battle Creek, Mich.; Mrs. Bell T. Goodnow, National Tuberculosis association; Marguerite Spiers, Berkeley; Dr. George William Hunter, Pomona college; Dr. Herbert Stoltz, director of adult education, California state board of education, and Dr. Edward W. Hayes, San Francisco.

TWO OIL WORKERS
GIVEN SIX MONTHS

John Kelly, 24, and Dewey Porter, 25, oilworkers of Huntington Beach, were sentenced to serve six months each in the Orange county jail, by Judge Charles Kuechel, at Anaheim yesterday, on petit larceny charges.

The two men were arrested by Deputy Sheriffs Knight and Carter yesterday on a complaint filed by William Waite, of Placentia, who charged them with stealing oranges from his grove while they were staging a party in his grove with two girls, according to the officers.

The girls were not held in the case.

Not only were the oranges stolen but several of the trees were damaged, it was said.

Mrs. Pressler,
Mrs. Jones Meet
In Golf Finals

SAN FRANCISCO, April 29.—Effective May 7, T. H. Warrington, who for the past 23 years has been in the service of the Santa Fe railway, will retire as general agent of the company at Sacramento, and will be succeeded by Elmer B. Johnson, now of the general freight office here. Tom Warrington, as he is universally known among rail way men, has reached the age of 73, and is in ill health.

Announcement also is made by James B. Duffy, general passenger agent, and Paul F. Hastings, general freight agent, of the appointment of F. A. Bell, division freight and passenger agent at Stockton to succeed W. J. Shattuck as division freight agent at Oakland, the latter retiring on account of ill health. E. J. Platt, traveling freight and passenger agent at Sacramento, has been appointed as Bell's successor at Stockton. All the appointments are approved by J. R. Hayden, assistant traffic manager.

With a style strongly resembling the male variety, long, powerful drives and great daring, Mrs. Pressler is hoped to win today, although Mrs. Jones is a dangerous contender.

Detroit's 6 to 5 victory over Cleveland resulted from a five run attack in the lucky seventh which sent George Uhle, leading pitcher in the American league last year, to the dugout.

SAN DIEGO SCHOOL SPONSORS PROGRAM

Schools of Southern California meet on the athletic field and the forensic rostrum but the possibilities of inter school relations in either field of student activities have been neglected, it was declared by Wilton Williams, president of the San Diego high school student body, in a speech at the assembly of the Santa Ana students yesterday morning in the auditorium.

An exchange of assembly programs has been arranged between Santa Ana and San Diego, under the new plan.

San Diego students gave the program, consisting of musical numbers, for the entertainment at yesterday's assembly. Stanley Norton, vice president, presided. In addition, a one-act play, "Getting Acquainted," was presented by Santa Ana students of Ernest Crozier Phillips' drama class. The thespians in the cast were Doris Kearns, Marian Adamson and DeRoy Dixon.

As a return program in exchange for the entertainment supplied by the San Diego students, the Santa Ana students in the cast of "The Twelve Pound Look" were to appear before the student body at San Diego today. Those in the cast are Virginia Brannon, Marian Bruner, Judson Riley and Eric Reineau.

LIGGETT COMPANY OPENS NEW STORE

Inquest into the death of Frank Adcock, 3-year-old son of E. E. Adcock, Costa Mesa, who died at the Santa Ana Valley hospital yesterday afternoon of injuries received in an accident five days ago, will be held late today at the Winbigler Mission funeral home, Coronor Charles D. Brown, announced today.

The child died of peritonitis caused, Brown said, from injuries received last Sunday afternoon to his home when run down by a truck.

The father of the child and his uncle, E. J. Adcock, were driving out of the home yard when the child was run down. He was taken to a doctor soon afterwards and last Monday was removed to the Santa Ana Valley hospital. The child's stomach was badly crushed, it was said.

BABE RUTH SETTLES $7000 DAMAGE SUIT

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 29.—The $7000 damage suit brought against Babe Ruth, home run king, by Michael Cunningham of this city, was settled out of court today. The suit was based on the plaintiff's claim that Ruth's automobile struck and injured him on a street here.

PENN, NAVY CREWS CLASH TOMORROW

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 29.—University of Pennsylvania and Navy crews will take their final practice today for the regatta on the Severn tomorrow. The Navy varsity outweighs Penn 41-2 pounds to the man, but the Penn junior crew has an equal advantage over the Navy juniors.

Heavy hitting broke up other games on a day of wild baseball. Eddie Roush returned to the Giants' lineup after a rest of several days, enforced by a "charley horse" and put New York in the lead in the sixth with a four-base hit. Loose fielding by his teammates enabled the Boston Braves to threaten, but the Giants won, 4 to 3, and went into undisputed leadership in the National league.

why will a man wear an ill fitting suit?

it's about the simplest thing in the world for a man to buy a good looking pattern in a suit of clothes—but fit—that's another question altogether. how many times have you seen a friend blossom out in a new suit, then open the conversation with a flock of apologies about the way the coat collar sets or try to fill the gap between the vest and the trousers with the ability that he bought the suit "just to knock around in."

honestly—why will men wear suits like that? why will they buy them when Collins sells suits that DO fit—at $35 and $50.

another question—did you ever see a Collins customer who wasn't satisfied? something to think about—what?

Will Get You Well

YOUR BODY AT ONE TIME FUNCTIONED NORMALLY, AND IF GIVEN THE CHANCE WILL DO SO AGAIN. PINCHED nerves are the cause of most human ailments, and by removing this pressure we are able to restore permanent relief from your sickness or disease.

WHY YOUR FOOT FALL ASLEEP WHEN YOU CROSS YOUR LEGS? SIMPLY BECAUSE YOU ARE PRODUCING pressure upon the great sciatic nerve, thus cutting off the nerve force to that extremity. A spinal pressure acts much in the same way. It is difficult to walk when your feet are numb. Likewise the organs or parts of your body will not function properly when they do not receive the proper amount of nerve energy.

NEW COMMITTEE MEMBERS IN ASSOCIATED CHAMBERS OF COMMERCE ARE ANNOUNCED

The first meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange County under the newly-elected officers was held at the Mission Inn in Fullerton last evening.

FRANCE CUTS TOURIST RATE FOR FOREIGNER

PARIS, April 29.—The supplementary credits bill, which was tabled at the beginning of the year, has been passed by the chamber in its final form. It provides, among other things, for the reduction of the charge for identity cards for foreigners from 375 francs to 100 francs (20 francs in the case of students or workers). Now that the bill is law, the lower charge comes into force. It is also provided that the cards shall be valid for two years instead of one. M. Poilcane states that the reduction will cause a loss of 200,000,000 francs to the treasury.

Likelihood of Surplus

The further bill for supplementary credits is now before the chamber and another one is due in July, before the accounts for 1926 are closed. In this case the credits required amount only to $4,000,000 francs. The bill includes the provisional settlement for the accounts as they appeared on March 10. This shows that, although additional credits are still required here and there to cover expenditures, if the total receipts are set against the total credits extended, there is a surplus of more than 1,000,000 francs. The receipts amount to 40,449,604.01 francs.

Tobacco Monopoly

The bill also includes among its "special provisions," a statement with regard to a tobacco monopoly. This requires some explanation. In March, 1926, when the chamber was struggling with the revenue bill which was to make up the deficiency in the budget, a radical deputy, M. Hargrave, moved an amendment providing for the establishment of a state monopoly in petrolium.

The idea caught on with the left of the chamber and was eventually carried in a form which established a monopoly in principle and provided that it should be made operative by a special law before April 1, 1927.

Petrol is Guaranteed

This law is now overdue, and the government takes this opportunity to explain why it is undesirable. It points out that it would have to raise at least 1,000,000,000 francs to establish a monopoly and that there would be considerable difficulties and dangers in assuming control of the sales on an article which is not produced in France.

Moreover, steps are being taken, by agreement with foreign companies, to insure a constant supply of petrol for France; the establishment of a monopoly by the state would interfere with these arrangements and might bring them to nothing. The statement accordingly concludes with a proposal to postpone action in the matter for another two years.

The latest official statistics of registered unemployed show that trade is beginning to revive. The number has diminished by roughly 2500 in the last week.

NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNERS

It will be necessary for residents on South Main street, from First street to Edinger street to set out all garbage and trash on the parkway of the cross street while construction work is under way.

COUNTY IMPROVEMENT NO. 11
NOTICE OF AWARD OF CONTRACT

Pursuant to statute and to Resolution No. 60 of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Orange, State of California, directing this notice:

Notice is hereby given that the said Board of Supervisors in open session on the 19th day of April, 1927, directed that:

all sealed proposals or bids offered for the improvement of Laguna Avenue in said County from the Southeastern line of that certain public highway commonly known as Coast Boulevard to a line 210.00 feet Southwesterly therefrom and parallel therewith by 100.00 feet and paving with a Portland Cement concrete pavement certain portions of said Laguna Avenue, the construction of Portland Cement concrete curbs, sidewalks, and curb石s, and the paving thereof, and the construction of a Portland Cement concrete pipe sewer connection thereto, and the installation therein of a steel pipe line, and a separate connection for domestic purposes, and known as "County Improvement No. 11," in said County, and as described in Resolution of Intention No. 55, of the Board of Supervisors of said County, adopted on the 22nd day of March, 1927, which Resolution of Intention is hereby expressly referred to for further information.

Notice is also hereby given that said Board of Supervisors thereafter, on the 23rd day of April, 1927, awarded the contract for said work to the lowest regular responsible bidder, to-wit:

United Concrete Pipe & Construction Co., in corporation at the prices named for said work in the proposal or bid on file in the office of the County Clerk, as follows:

The construction of Type "A" Pavement, including grading, at 30¢ per square foot.

The construction of Class "A" Curb, including grading, at 90¢ per linear foot.

The construction of Class "B" Curb, including grading, at $1.10 per linear foot.

The construction of Sidewalk, 1½ feet wide, including grading, at 27¢ per square foot.

The construction of reinforced sidewalk, 9 feet wide, including grading, at 35¢ per square foot.

The installation of 2-inch Galvanized Iron Pipe at 73¢ per linear foot.

The installation of 6-inch Concrete Sewer Pipe at $1.40 per linear foot.

The construction of concrete Steps and Class "C" Curb, including $2000.00.

Dated this 26th day of April, 1927.

Given under my hand and seal,

John E. Armitage, Secretary of the County Clerk and Ex-Officio Clerk of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Orange.

BEAN GROWERS PREPARING TO BEGIN PLANTING

The crow of the roosters early in the morning soon will be the signal for the bean growers to arouse themselves and get out in the field in the planting of beans in the country.

Kidney bean growers now are seeding their lands, but the general rush of planting the 45,000 acres in this county that will be devoted to "Arizona strawberries" will not start until around the tenth of next month—and not then should heavy rains visit this section between the dates.

It was pointed out today that there always is a chance for a rain period in the first few days in May, and that because of this fact planting is delayed, as a rule, until May 10.

As usual, limas will lead in the number of acres planted, with blackeyes and kidney beans following in smaller acreages. There will be no great increase this year in the number of acres planted, in the opinion of men versed in the culture of the vegetable.

Prospects at this time warrant the prediction that the county yield will be equal to that of last season, when the average yield per acre was the largest in the industry. There always is the possibility of something happening to blight the prospect—and extremely hot weather in the later part of July or early in August is the menace.

The county yield last season approximated 500,000 bags and prediction is made that when the harvest of this season's crop is completed the bags will tally close to the number of last season.

Nearly half of the acreage in the county is on the Irvine ranch. Farmers on the ranch this season will plant 1100 acres of kidney beans, 6000 acres of blackeyes and 15,000 acres of limas, according to estimates made by C. J. Cogan.

Commenting today on reports that some bean growers are superstitious and will start planting only on certain dates of the year—and always on the same date—Cogan and W. C. Jerome declared that weather conditions controlled entirely, and that bean growers had no such superstitions.

AL, AND WALKER TO ACT

ALBANY, N. Y., April 29.—Governor Al Smith will go back to the stage next May when St. James parish presents a series of plays. Years ago he was one of the leading amateurs. The governor will play the part of the villain. Mayor Walker of New York City also will have a leading part in the cast.

SECTION THREE

IDEALS TRACED IN FULLERTON
SCHOOL SPEECH

FULLERTON, April 29.—A mass meeting of people interested in Public Schools week and sponsored by the Masonic organization of Fullerton was held last evening in the auditorium of the Fullerton union high school. Professor Carl Knopf, of the University of Southern California, and formerly of Fullerton, gave an address on the subject, "The First Thousand Years."

The speaker traced the ideals of nations and individuals from 2700 B. C. down to the present time. He told how people in early times endeavored to live out their ideal, and although they were criticized by the majority of people of that day, their ideals remained and grew.

"If an ideal can last a thousand years, it has been tested and it will remain eternally, no doubt," Knopf said. "There are certain values from these worthy ideals which will prevail through all ages to come and be of benefit to all."

"Education, religion and democracy are three ideals which were started under very difficult environments, but they succeeded in remaining because the ideals were of value to the human race. The test has been made and the experiment is over. The practical side of these three ideals are present, and will remain with us throughout the ages."

The speaker then took up the challenge which has been made so many times relative to the youth of the day "going to the dogs." The speaker said:

"In the time of our grandfathers the people were talking about the youth going to the dogs and it appears that the dogs are having a long wait. The young people are not degenerating and are only looking at the proposition of life in another angle from their elders."

People of the country are criticizing the schools for not taking the responsibility of training youth and keeping him from "going to the dogs," the speaker said. The speaker reminded the audience that the student spends but a short time of the day in the school, and he is becoming educated in character in the community life around him, among his associates and other places. The student's character is determined by the education he receives from all his environment, not just from the school, he said.

The meeting last night was handled by S. C. Hartman, trustee of the high school. A musical program was presented by students of the Fullerton Junior college, which consisted of a piano solo by Virginia Long, a violin solo, "The Volga Boatman," by William Grafton, accompanied by Olive Tozier; two selections by the men's glee club, and a one-act play, entitled, "Perch."

Hickey Free Of Liquor Charge

NORTWICH BEACH, April 29.—T. F. Hickey, Balboa billiard parlor operator, was found not guilty of a charge of selling intoxicating liquor by a jury here yesterday.

Hickey was arrested several weeks ago by three local officers on a charge of possession of liquor and later was rearrested on a charge of selling liquor. He still faces the possession charge. A jury trial on the possession charge will be held at a later date.

Officers alleged Hickey was selling a concoction of alcohol and vanilla flavoring in a cough syrup bottle. Hickey asserted that he purchased the bottles of cough syrup from a Santa Ana wholesale grocery house and that other places in the county were handling the same article.

It'll Be Xmas
Every Day at H. B.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, April 29.—Children of the local grammar school will have a Christmas tree every day in the year. A Christmas tree was planted in the center of the school lawn Wednesday afternoon by members of the local Woman's club and the local Parent-Teacher association.

Mrs. May S. Jackson, president of the Woman's club, was in charge of the program.

TRY MAGNESIA FOR STOMACH TROUBLE

To Neutralize Acidity and Fermentation. Prevents Indigestion, Sour, Gassy Stomach

People who suffer from indigestion usually have tried pills, charcoal drugs and various digestive aids but after trying them find that their troubles in some cases do not even give relief.

But before giving up to chronic dyspepsia, try the effects of little Bisulat Magnesia—not the ordinary commercial carbonate, citrate or milk, but pure Bisulat Magnesia which you can obtain from practically any druggist in either powder or tablet form.

Take a teaspoonful of the powder or four compressed tablets with a little water after your meal, and see what a difference this makes. It will instantly neutralize the dangerous, harmful acid in the stomach which now causes you to feel uncomfortable and making gas, wind, flatulence, heartburn and the bloated or heavy, lumpy feeling that seems to follow most everything you eat.

You can enjoy your meals without a fear of indigestion.—Adv.

Mr. E. J. Hoenshel departed on Saturday for her home in Chillicothe, Mo., after a three months' visit at the home of her brother-in-law, A. D. Hoenshel.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Woodside visited Mrs. Dossie Van Buskirk in Los Angeles Sunday evening.

Dr. M. B. Dale, of Los Angeles, spent several days this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Oertley.

Mrs. Bert Hayes and daughter, Miss Letta, returned Sunday from a motor trip to San Francisco, where they spent a week with relatives.

Anaheim Legion
Members Sponsor Benefit Program

ANAHEIM, April 29.—Talent drawn from Anaheim, Fullerton, Orange, Santa Ana and San Pedro contributed to the benefit concert and vaudeville program staged by the Anaheim post of the American Legion in the auditorium of the Anaheim union high school last night.

The Anaheim Legion band, under the direction of Carl F. Ecklund, contributed a large share, appearing on the program nine times.

The vaudeville features of the program included whistling numbers by H. N. Schneiders, a mystery story by the Rev. F. T. Porter, of Santa Ana, classical dances by Catherine Shapiro and several other vocal and instrumental specialties.

The program presented by the band included a cornet solo, "The Charmer," Theodore Clausen, of Anaheim; vocal solo, "Thou Brilliant Bird," Miss Josephine Duran, of Orange; flute number, Paul Beatty, of Anaheim, accompanied by Miss Ione Maas, also of Anaheim; clarinet solo, Cleo Tamgart, of Fullerton; clarinet duet, Cleo Tamgart, of Fullerton, and W. A. Hawkins, of Orange, and a solo, Everett Idler, of Anaheim.

The student's character is determined by the education he receives from all his environment, not just from the school, he said.

The meeting last night was handled by S. C. Hartman, trustee of the high school. A musical program was presented by students of the Fullerton Junior college, which consisted of a piano solo by Virginia Long, a violin solo, "The Volga Boatman," by William Grafton, accompanied by Olive Tozier; two selections by the men's glee club, and a one-act play, entitled, "Perch."

The speaker then took up the challenge which has been made so many times relative to the youth of the day "going to the dogs."

The speaker said:

"In the time of our grandfathers the people were talking about the youth going to the dogs and it appears that the dogs are having a long wait. The young people are not degenerating and are only looking at the proposition of life in another angle from their elders."

People of the country are criticizing the schools for not taking the responsibility of training youth and keeping him from "going to the dogs," the speaker said. The speaker reminded the audience that the student spends but a short time of the day in the school, and he is becoming educated in character in the community life around him, among his associates and other places. The student's character is determined by the education he receives from all his environment, not just from the school, he said.

A Child's Laxative which Mothers Can Rely On

DR. W. B. CALDWELL
AT THE AGE OF 68

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated men, women, children, and particularly old folks, had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all headaches, biliousness, indigestion and stomach misery, he did not believe that a sickening "purge" or "physic" was necessary.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepin he discovered a laxative which helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even for those chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but, best of all, it never grinds, sickens, or upsets the system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless, and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, bilious, sick child gladly takes it.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine or write "Syrup Pepin," Monticello, Illinois, for a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE and just see for yourself.

SCIOTS MAKE PLANS TO MOVE TO NEW HALL

Final arrangements for moving from El Camino hall to the new lodge rooms at Fifth and Broadway streets were completed Wednesday night when the Ancient Egyptian Order of Sciots held its regular meeting.

In connection with moving were the plans for a housewarming to be held in conjunction with Jubilee Lodge, No. 604, and the White Shrine of Jerusalem, May 19. Committees were appointed to attend to the entertainment and other details of the evening's program.

A representative from Pettibone's was present and after showing the Sciots samples of various uniforms, he succeeded in selling them the uniforms for the Lybian guard which has recently been organized.

Sciots who belong to the Masonic club of the Valley of the Moon were reminded of the special program planned there for the week end. It will include dancing Saturday evening and trout fishing Sunday. It was stated that 10 cars would go from Santa Ana.

PYTHIAN KNIGHTS IN NEW QUARTERS

Santa Ana Lodge No. 149, Knights of Pythias, has moved into its new hall, at Fifth and Broadway, it was announced today by Chancellor Commander J. A. Gajeski.

Elaborate plans have been perfected for a dedication program Wednesday, May 4, when the new quarters will be dedicated to Pythianism.

A musical program will follow brief business session at 8 o'clock and at 10:30 the floors will be cleared for an hour of dancing, according to V. C. Shidler, chairman of the entertainment committee. All Pythians, Pythian Sisters and their friends are invited to attend. A special invitation has been extended to other tenants of the building.

The special committee appointed to arrange for holding a dance every Saturday night has reported that the first dance will be held Saturday night, May 7.

NATIVE DAUGHTERS PLAY CARDS, DANCE

The potluck dinner given on Wednesday night in the fine new Getty hall by the members of Santa Ana parlor, Native Daughters of the Golden West, was attended by more than 100 members, Native Sons and their families.

Supper was served on long tables by the committee in charge, with Mrs. Mary Moore chairman.

After eating, the company went to the hall, where dancing and cards were enjoyed. The prizes were captured by Mrs. Allen and A. E. Selvidge, who tied for bridge, the trophy being divided. Mrs. Matilda Lemon receiving the low prize. Mrs. Olive Lopez won the 500 prize, with Mrs. Wells taking the low.

The hall was beautifully decorated with large baskets of lilies, marigolds and roses. This was the second social affair to be held in the new hall, which has been taken jointly by the two parlors for the Wednesdays of the month. Santa Ana parlor, Native Daughters, will have its first regular meeting there May 11.

Sons, Daughters Of 'Vets' Dine At G. A. R. Hall

E. J. Parker, division commander, made a brief talk at Monday night's pot luck dinner held at G. A. R. hall by Sons and Daughters of Union Veterans.

The dinner was given under the direction of the Daughters who had spent much time in decorating the tables with Cecil Bruner roses and fern.

Features of the evening's program were the violin selections presented by G. F. Andrist of Tucson who was accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Andrist.

Mrs. Nellie Parker, department chaplain, gave an outline of the work accomplished by the Daughters.

Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Newman and Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Langley were honored guests.

Tustin Pythian Sisters Convene

Mrs. A. A. Alderman of Tustin entertained the Tustin Pythian Sisters Wednesday afternoon at a social tea held in her home. The afternoon was pleasantly spent in sewing and conversation. Several musical numbers were presented.

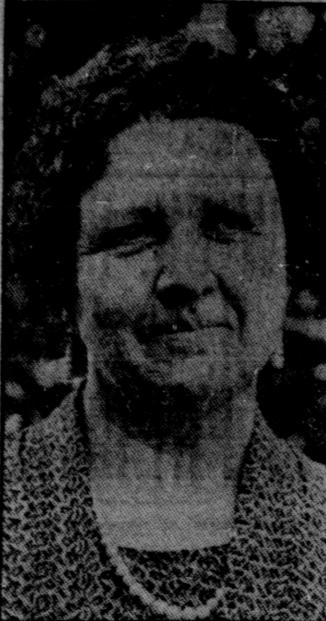

It was announced that the next regular meeting of the Sisters will take place Thursday evening, May 5, 8 o'clock, at the Pythian hall.

New Officers Of Elks Take Seats

New officers of Santa Ana Lodge, No. 794, B. P. O. E., were in the chairs Tuesday night for the first meeting of the new fiscal year. At this meeting one man was initiated.

Entertainment was provided by a local theater and proved to be a slight of hand performer of unusual talent. Refreshments were served following the entertainment.

PRIESTESS TO ATTEND LODGE MEET IN EAST

Mrs. Ada May Sutherland, worthy high priestess of Damascus Shrine, No. 13, White Shrine of Jerusalem, left yesterday for Buffalo, New York, to attend the annual national convention of the lodge.

The date of the opening of the convention will be May 2. Headquarters will be at Hotel Statler where all committees will be stationed on the mezzanine floor. All of the ceremonials will be held in Elmwood hall.

Mrs. Sutherland was noble prophetess last year and preceding that year had held other offices. She is a charter member and has been a prominent shrine worker since its organization four years ago.

NORWALK WOMAN IS O. E. S. GUEST

Miss Eva Ryan, worthy matron of the Norwalk chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, was a guest Monday night of Santa Ana chapter when the regular meeting was held.

The exemplification of the work which was put on in order to initiate three new candidates was praised by Mrs. Ryan in a brief address.

A discussion of plans for initiation ceremonies at Garden Grove, held last night, brought out that a number of Santa Anans would be present. At this meeting Ray Griset, grand patron, and Sarah Wettilin, deputy grand matron of Orange county, were guests of honor.

Four applications were received by the chapter. Refreshments were served.

Pythian Sisters Will Induct New Members May 10

A large class of candidates will be initiated May 10 when Pythian Sisters hold their first meeting in the new Knights of Pythias hall at Fifth and Broadway, according to an announcement made Tuesday night at the regular meeting held in G. A. R. hall.

The trustees of the lodge, Mrs. Peter Isherwood, Mrs. C. H. Powers and Mrs. H. H. Clemens, were appointed to see that all Pythian Sister paraphernalia was moved to the new hall.

Mrs. Teresa McMullen was elected a delegate to the grand lodge session to be held in Santa Barbara, May 10-12.

Cissy Fitzgerald Sued for $50,000

LOS ANGELES, April 29.—Cissy Fitzgerald, one time favorite of the musical comedy stage, now playing in motion pictures, is motion pictures, is named defendant in a $50,000 heart balm suit here by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Vera Tucker.

In her complaint, Mrs. Tucker alleges that the actress prejudiced her son, Osmund Mark Tucker, whom the plaintiff married last January 26, against her and succeeded in persuading him to desert her.

The comedienne is further alleged to have told her son that his wife should have married a laborer and that she was not good enough for him.

DEMOLAY BOYS PICK OUT FOUR SUMMER CAMPS

Four locations have been selected for the Demolay regional summer camps to be held this year, according to announcements received by the Santa Ana Demolay chapter from Frank S. Land, grand scribe. The nearest camp for the California chapters will be the national camp at Bear Lake, Colo.

Leaders of the programs and discussions will be selected from members of the Grand Scribe's staff.

A survey of the chapters which sent delegates to the camp last year was made by the grand council and it was found that chapter activities were given a strong impetus through the results of the summer camps.

The Santa Ana chapter sent delegates to the state California state convention recently, and, if it is financially possible, representatives from here may attend the summer camp, officers of the order said today.

HONORS MEMBERS OF SHRINE STAFF

The beautiful new home of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Mueller, 703 East Bishop street, was the setting for an evening party last week when Mrs. Mueller, retiring worthy high priestess of Damascus Shrine, entertained all of the officers of the shrine.

Bridge occupied the earlier hours of the evening and was followed by an elaborate chicken supper served at the card tables. As table favors and in order to show her appreciation of their cooperation during the past year, Mrs. Mueller presented each of her guests with a silver pie server and gave each man a pocket knife.

Invited guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Nicholson, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Zabel; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Preston, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Beisel, Mr. and Mrs. J. Vinson, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Two High Chiefs Are Honored By Torosa Rebekahs

Mrs. Bambough, deputy president of District 62, was present at Wednesday night's meeting of the Torosa Rebekah lodge which was held in I. O. O. F. hall. Another honored guest was Mrs. Florence Crawford, deputy president of this district. Each of them gave brief talks dealing with the work of the lodge and its various accomplishments.

Following a short business meeting a program was presented by children of lodge members. Dorothy Perkins presented a reading, Donald Stephenson and Boyd Lentz sang a duet, Thomas Lucy gave a piano solo, a reading was given by Grace and Donald Holmes, songs were sung by Beryl Jean Wilson and Jack Lentz, and a piano solo was rendered by June Wilson. Refreshments were served.

Washington Club Members Gather

Mrs. Mae Foster was hostess Wednesday afternoon at her home on West Fourth street when members of the Martha Washington Thimble club met there for an afternoon's work. Mrs. Foster served refreshments.

Those enjoying Mrs. Foster's hospitality were Mrs. Belle Alderman, Mrs. Cooley, Mrs. Bebbie McDonald, Mrs. Leota Allen, Mrs. Pauline Decker, Mrs. Dacia Jasper, Mrs. Sarah House, Mrs. Hatzie Peters, Mrs. Mamie Zimmerman, Mrs. Emma Chandler, and Mrs. Jessie Overton who was a guest of the club.

What's In Name? Not Much Dignity

SEATTLE, Wn., April 29.—The feminine influence threatens to pervade the vernacular of the logging camps. No one knows how much longer the chokermen, fallers, hockers, teeters, punks, bucklers, king riders and others with hard-boiled titles can call themselves by their right names. It started when Mayor Bertha K. Landes was called upon to sign an ordinance creating the job of "chub cook" for a hydro-electric development project. "It seems" reproved the mayor, "that the council should have adopted a title suggesting some degree of dignity, if not culture." The council, cowed, promised to see what could be done.

BORDER PATROL HAS GREAT JOB
ON ITS HANDS

WASHINGTON, April 29.—The immigration service border patrol, as a separate uniformed unit, is the latest addition to Uncle Sam's armed forces. It is just completing its third year and numbers nearly 600 men, about evenly divided between northern and southern land borders. Its primary purpose is to prevent unwanted aliens from "crashing the gate" and making their way illegally into this country. In theory the patrol has nothing to do with prohibition enforcement, but actually it plays a leading part in dealing with rum runners, gun runners, and dope smugglers. It has a big job on its hands and is making good.

Romance and Adventure

Romance and adventure—a plenty feature the exploits of the "boys" of the border patrol. Their uniforms are not so brilliant, but their work is just as daring as that of the Canadian mounted police. Their organization is too young to have the traditions of the Texas Rangers, but it is making history every day. The men patrol a "beat" that stretches from coast to coast, trailing smugglers, facing ambuscades and matching their wits and courage with the cunning of the organized gangs on both sides of the international boundary.

The immigration service guard is recruited largely from former service men. They are square shooters and many of them expert marksmen, but are under orders not to shoot except in self defense. This means that invariably the smugglers have the first shot. That this is a serious handicap is amply proved by the formal reports collecting dust in the archives of the immigration bureau in Washington, which chronicle the death of more than one fearless patrol rider, bullet-ridden from ambush or shot in the first few seconds of an open encounter with smugglers.

Professional Runners

The professional runners of aliens are persistent and resourceful. Their business has scarcely reached the degree of organization the bootlegging industry has attained, but the alien smugglers are usually more ruthless, and are engaged in a more dangerous and more profitable game. An automobile load or half a dozen barreled aliens "run" successfully from Montreal to Boston will yield a $5000 profit to the smuggler for the single trip.

George F. Harris, acting assistant commissioner-general of immigration, has been at the Mexican border since 1906 and had a leading part in organizing the patrol, and was in command of the Southern unit until his recent transfer to Washington. He says that since the adoption of the exclusion policy of the present immigration law, alien smuggling on a large scale is once more rampant, reminiscent of the days of wholesale "running" of Chinese from Mexico 20 years ago.

Work of Patrol Extensive

The activities of the border patrol are made more extensive than is generally realized, according to Harris. In the 16 months ending last October, at the Mexican border alone, 224,760 persons were questioned, more than 25,000 trains were searched and more than 100,000 automobiles and motor busses stopped and examined.

The patrol guard traveled nearly 600,000 miles by automobile, 80,000 miles in the saddle, and 60,000 miles on foot. Five hundred alien smugglers and more than 10,000 aliens were apprehended. The smugglers were subject to criminal prosecution and the aliens to expulsion.

Kaufman's first assignment was to assist with the trial of a criminal case in progress in department 3 of superior court.

The new deputy district attorney, who has practiced law in Santa Ana for seven years, moved yesterday from his offices in a down-town office building into the quarters that are being vacated this week by his predecessor, Roy V. Shafer, at the courthouse.

Shafer resigned from the district attorney's staff following his election as vice-president and counsel of the Orange County Title company, in Santa Ana.

BRITAIN NEEDS WICKEDNESS TO LURE TOURISTS

LONDON, April 29.—Life is no bed of roses for the group of gentlemen who are sponsoring the "Come to Britain" movement in the hope of luring to England a large proportion of the annual tourist migration from America.

There are, of course, countless historic scenes—cathedrals, abbeys, homes where great men of the past have lived, and sites immortalized in literature—to attract the traveler. All these are being advertised as never before, but they are eminently respectable.

England Needs Wickedness

What England needs, the "Come to Britain" men have decided, is a dash of wickedness. After all, there is a glamour about Montmartre or Monte Carlo not quite attained by the birthplace of Milton.

So they set about making known the amenities of British seaside holiday resorts, but they struck a snag that has occasioned a lively protest. English seaside resorts, they announce, are threatened with extinction because of the "butchers and grocers who form the town councils and imagine their mission in life is to reform the morals of holiday visitors."

Churches Block Sunday Dances

The "Come to Britain" movement tried to get a license for Sunday dancing in Folkestone, but they were refused twice, and further irritated when after the second rejection the congregation referred to the incident by singing, "We Thank Thee All Our God."

At most of the south coast resorts there is no Sunday dancing, no tennis and sometimes no bathing, and at some of the resorts mixed bathing is banned at any time. "We must overthrow the Victorian ladylike spirit," say the "Come to Britain" men. "Down with the grandmas who rule the seaside!"

Americans in London

None the less it is by no means certain that the high moral tone of these resorts will fail to be appreciated by American visitors. For the latter, if one may believe the Daily News, have completely changed, reporter of that paper the other day saw a rubberneck car full of Americans in Trafalgar Square, gave close study to this strange species, and, returning to his office, wrote a third of a column about it. "These Americans," he explains, "are notable because:

"They dress like English people. They are young—not more than twenty-five.

"They are not millionaires, film stars nor steel magnates.

"They do not smoke fat cigars.

"They chew no gum.

"They have left all slugs in New York."

And there is a story floating around that last summer there was one American tourist who maintained his respect for prohibition on this side of the ocean. But not even London's newspapermen have had nerve enough to print that one.

OLDEST TURK, 160

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 29.—Fatma Hanen, Turkish woman who has been living in the Thracian wilds, claims the longevity record of the world. She says she is 160 years old and remembers events that occurred a century and a quarter ago. Her children and grandchildren are dead, but she has many great-grandchildren living.

MEN REVOLT

PARIS, April 29.—Abandoning conventional male attire, hundreds of men in the Anti-Punishment society of Paris have declared war on stiff bosoms, hard-boiled collars and long trousers. Even the president of the Paris tailors' association is included among the many notables who favor the return of knee breeches.

NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNERS WEEDS

The City of Santa Ana will commence cutting weeds April 26th; if same have not been taken care of by the property owner, prior to the arrival of the city forces, the Street Department will cut the weeds without further notice.

Your attention is called to the fact that during previous years it has been necessary to reclean some lots where the weeds have only been partially cut by the owners. In order to avoid this confusion if anyone is uncertain as to whether their lots are properly cleaned, please call Phone No. 1136 and a city inspector will be sent to inspect the lots.

SOUTH APT TO PLAY BIG PART IN CONVENTION

WASHINGTON, April 29.—The south may play a bigger part in selecting the Republican and Democratic presidential nominees next year than it has before in modern times.

With statements of political leaders, newspaper editorials and information from responsible sources as a gauge, a survey of 14 states in the old and new south by the United Press indicates that President Coolidge may receive 237 delegates in that territory—sufficient to give him the nomination with the 335 votes he expects in eastern regions.

The situation as regards Gov. Al Smith, of New York, now considered the leading Democratic candidate is not so clear cut, but its result may prove just as decisive. Smith has now no assurance of a single vote from the region. Indications are that at least eight of the 14 states will send delegates to the 1928 convention pledged for favorite sons and some delegations may arrive unpledged. Just how many of these Smith will receive after the first few ballots in the convention may determine the question of his nomination.

Selection of Republican convention delegates from the south always has been a more or less routine affair. From seven consecutive years of patronage, party men have built up an organization completely in sympathy with the administration and opinion is almost unanimous that Mr. Coolidge will not lose a delegate below the Mason-Dixon line if he chooses to seek re-election. Similarly it is expected these delegates would be for the strongest candidate if Mr. Coolidge declines.

But the Democratic situation is precarious. Arkansas, Florida, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, Texas and Virginia may send delegates pledged to favorite sons, according to present indications. Alabama, Georgia, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee and West Virginia are regarded as doubtful.

This was the substance of an address made yesterday by Dr. John H. Pettis, of Fresno, before the closing session of the California Medical association here.

"Persons who have been given up as hopeless before the advances of the dreaded white plague," Dr. Pettis said, "Have responded to the surgical treatment and are now occupying their rightful places in society and business."

The operation, according to the Fresno physician, is accomplished by deftly removing a section of the ribs on the affected side of the chest. This allows the ribs to collapse, forever excluding air from the lungs on that side.

Now France proposes to take unto herself, as it were, these children of her soil. All children born on French soil are to be regarded as French citizens. This is the law in the United States, but France has vigorously opposed any pretensions we have made when she forced the American-born son of a French father to serve his term in the French army. Now that France has taken the stand that children born on her soil are French, it will be interesting to see whether she will be consistent and respect the American citizenship of children born in the United States to French parents.

LOS ANGELES, April 29.—A good percentage of the estimated 30,000 persons in this country suffering from the dreaded white plague may be saved by radical surgical treatment of pulmonary tuberculosis.

This was the substance of an address made yesterday by Dr. John H. Pettis, of Fresno, before the closing session of the California Medical association here.

GROWING BULK
SCARES FRANCE

LONDON, April 29.—France has plenty of troubles, but unfortunately, they are not little ones. France is probably the only nation in the world that has arrived at a fairly stationary population. If all the nations had arrived at this point one of the greatest causes of war would disappear.

Not that a stationary population is necessarily peaceful. France herself offers evidence to the contrary. But with no increasing populations such as those of Italy, Germany and Japan to demand additional elbow room and to talk forever about their right to additional territory, there might be a better chance for the nations to settle down and enjoy themselves in peace.

France would be the first to welcome such a Utopia. But with a birth rate only a trifle above her death rate, she feels the constant crowding of her more fertile neighbors. This feeling of an ever-increasing pressure from the eastern plains is without a doubt one of the chief underlying causes for France's unreasonable fear and her consequent touchiness on all points where her armaments are concerned.

This was the substance of an address made yesterday by Dr. John H. Pettis, of Fresno, before the closing session of the California Medical association here.

"Persons who have been given up as hopeless before the advances of the dreaded white plague," Dr. Pettis said, "Have responded to the surgical treatment and are now occupying their rightful places in society and business."

The operation, according to the Fresno physician, is accomplished by deftly removing a section of the ribs on the affected side of the chest. This allows the ribs to collapse, forever excluding air from the lungs on that side.

Now France proposes to take unto herself, as it were, these children of her soil. All children born on French soil are to be regarded as French citizens. This is the law in the United States, but France has vigorously opposed any pretensions we have made when she forced the American-born son of a French father to serve his term in the French army. Now that France has taken the stand that children born on her soil are French, it will be interesting to see whether she will be consistent and respect the American citizenship of children born in the United States to French parents.

SCRATCHED ITCHING SKIN UNTIL IT BLEED

Belief at once by a simple treatment

Evans City, Pa., April 21.—"Some time ago I had a bad case of eczema and vine poisoning. At times I scratched my skin until the blood ran. Then our family doctor advised me to use Resino Soap and Ointment. I obtained relief at once and before long new, smooth skin had taken the place of the old sores. If Resino should cost twice as much I would never be without it as I do not think there is a soap or ointment on the market their equal, and it seems to me I have tried almost all of them. Resino Soap is most refreshing and pleasant to use, and Resino Ointment has a quick healing power. I have recommended these products to many people and expect to continue to do so." (Signed) E. J. NEWS FROM ORANGE AND SURROUNDING DISTRICT

E. B. COLLIER HEADS ORANGE ROTARY CLUB

18 From Orange Are Delegates To Epworth Meeting

ORANGE, April 29.—E. B. Collier, superintendent of the Central League association's packing plant in Villa Park and ex-trusted of the city of Santa Ana, yesterday was elected to head the local Rotary club at the annual election meeting of the body. Collier succeeds Dr. C. S. Parker.

The election, together with a report of the state convention of Rotarians recently held in Stockton, given by Collier and D. F. Campbell, delegates, occupied the entire meeting time.

Other officers were re-elected. E. W. Bolinger succeeds himself as treasurer and C. F. Newton succeeds himself for the seventh time to the office of secretary. Newton is the only secretary the club has ever had.

On the board of directors, D. F. Campbell, E. Chapman, S. B. Edwards, Clyde Watson and Wilbur Woods succeed J. E. Craemer, M. M. Fishback, Ray McCarthy, Ernest Smith and Alfred Huhn.

UNIFORM SCHOOL DRESS DEFEATED

ORANGE, April 29.—Fourteen votes defeated the proposition to garb the girls of Orange union high school in uniform dresses during school hours, when the question was balloted on yesterday at the school by the girls. The proponents of the uniforms failed to get a two-thirds majority. The vote for the uniforms was 156 and against them the vote was 99.

Miss Helen Lee was chosen president of the Girl's League in the balloting for officers. She will succeed Miss Henrietta Blank.

Other officers chosen are as follows: Miss Dorothy Alt, secretary; Miss Charlotte Knuth, treasurer; Miss Dorothy Kern, chairman of the program committee; Miss Verna Butler, chairman of the hospital committee; Miss Ruth Brubaker, chairman of the school service committee; Miss Shirley Haynes, chairman of the social committee; Miss Earline Davis, chairman of the ways and means committee.

Miss Avis Middleton, who has served as advisor during the past year, will again serve in that capacity at the next term, it was decided.

PROGRESS OF EDUCATION IS TOLD BY PASTOR

ORANGE, April 29.—Crediting the birth and early sponsoring of the public schools to the order of the Massachusetts Bay colony that every community of 40 families installed schools, and to the dissemination of ideas of education and liberty by the Dutch following the capture of New Amsterdam by the British, the Rev. Judson Oldfield, of Brea, lecturer for the Scottish Rite bodies in Southern California, concluded the series of Education week meetings which have been held in Orange during the past few days, in the auditorium of the high school last night.

The Rev. Mr. Oldfield traced the history of the school from its inception to the present, stressing the important part it has played and is still playing in the progress of the nation.

The school, as no other organization, is responsible for the instillation of American ideals in American children, according to the Rev. Mr. Oldfield.

Statistics were cited by the speaker to show the inadequate amount spent on the public schools in comparison with other things not rated so high. That the work of education is proceeding slowly and is hampered, was credited by the Rev. Mr. Oldfield to the fact that it is dependent upon the secretary of the interior in the president's cabinet as are many other features of the nation. A department of education in the cabinet is the only way the schools will be assured of a fair chance to progress as they should, according to the Rev. Mr. Oldfield.

Preceding the talk of the evening, F. A. Henderson, principal of the high school, introduced two of the school's contestants in the recent oratorical contests, Paul Miller and Robert Hartman. Each gave his oration to the audience.

As announced by Henderson, the music program, given by the Music club of the high school was for the purpose of calling attention to the concert to be given in the high school auditorium by Miss Olga Steeb, concert pianist of Los Angeles, on May 6. A trio composed of Johanna Day, flute; Kenneth Moody, bassoon, and Harry Daugherty, clarinet, and accompanied by Eunice Douglas at the piano, opened the musical entertainment period. A girl's chorus of eight from the Ensemble club sang. A string quartet with Elmer Sheets, E. R. Walker, George Kelllogg, A. Anderson, E. R. West of Anaheim, J. A. Logsdon, H. May, C. W. Morris and Mrs. Charity Murray.

Friday and Saturday was open house at Cal-Tech at Pasadena and Murray Walker and Neil Sparks enjoyed a stay there on those days.

Mr. and Mrs. Galler Page were hosts to a few friends on Saturday evening with a dinner observing the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Page and Mrs. W. B. Selover. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Elchier, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Selover.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Walker entertained at dinner for 18 relatives to celebrate their twentieth wedding anniversary. Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Walker and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Shook of Pasadena. Mr. and Mrs. Walker were presented with a beautiful 52-piece breakfast set.

Little Dorcus May fell at school on Tuesday cutting her chin so badly it required several stitches to close the wound.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Walker and family attended a party on Wednesday evening at the Shrine auditorium in Los Angeles for Shriners and their families.

L. A. MAN FINED

HUNTINGTON BEACH, April 29.—Claire Arant, of 1324 East Fifty-eighth street, Los Angeles, was given his choice of paying a $50 fine or spending 50 days in jail, when he pleaded guilty to a reckless driving charge here yesterday. City Recorder C. W. Warner heard the case. Arant was said to have been traveling down Ocean avenue at a high rate of speed when arrested.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gribble have left for Valley View, near Bakersfield, where they will have charge of 160 acres of land. Mr. Gribble's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Gribble, accompanied them to their new home.

A Lecture on Christian Science Entitled Man's Spiritual Nature as Revealed by Christian Science

Miss Margaret Murney Glenn,
C. S. B. of Boston, Massachusetts

Member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church,
The First Church of Christ Scientist, in Boston, Mass., U. S. A.

The following lecture on Christian Science was given under the auspices of First Church of Christ, Scientist, Santa Ana, California, at Yost's Theater, 305 Sprague street, Thursday evening, April 28, 1927, at 8 o'clock:

The question uppermost in the thought of many to-day is, What is man? The attention given by the general public to the subject of evolution as well as the efforts of the individual to find the reason for his being and the purpose of his life evidence the deep interest felt in this question. Natural science explains man as a wholly material creation; medicine treats him as a material body, with a mentality resident in the brain; theology believes him to be material and spiritual. The natural scientist is correct in believing that there must be a science to explain man's nature, but this science is the Science of Spirit, not of matter. The theologian is correct in maintaining that God created man in His image, but this image, in order to be an image, must be wholly spiritual, for God is Spirit, not flesh.

The Science of Christianity does not deprive the natural scientist of science, but gives him a higher concept of it. Neither does it rob the religionist of his belief that man is God's image, but it reveals man in the perfection of his being as that image. The Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, Mary Baker Eddy, writes: "Nature reflects man and art pencils him, but it remains for Science to reveal man to man." (The First Church of Christ, Scientist, and Miscellany, p. 124), and the Psalmist indicated man's purely spiritual nature when he said, "What is man, that thou art mindful of him?"

MAN'S SUBSTANCE
What is man's substance, that God is mindful of it? If the answers of the physical sciences are correct then are we, of all creatures, most miserable, for according to their analysis a mortal man consists of matter-substance which is subject to discord, decay, and disintegration. Can God really be mindful of a substance that is discordant, decadent, destructive, and can this unsubstantial, so-called substance constitute man, who is God's noblest creation?
Assuredly not, and the Science of man, opposed to the so-called science of mortals, reveals man's substance as consisting of spiritual ideas, which are as immutable as their source, the one divine and infinite Spirit, God. Man's substance cannot be perceived through a microscope, for it is spiritual and mental. All there is humanly to you and me is our thinking. Remove a person's thinking and there is no longer human evidence of his existence.

Christian Science teaches that the spirit of love, joy, strength, harmony, honesty, and intelligence, or to put it differently, the divine qualities that you and I manifest, constitute our individuality, or our substance. One often uses the expression, There is not much substance to what he says, or He is a substantial sort of person, meaning not that he has a lot of matter, but that his thinking is intelligent, honest, just, and loving.
Let us see why these qualities are substantial. Honesty cannot be burned, drowned, nor destroyed by an accident, and this is true of every other quality or attribute of God, such as harmony, health, and love. These qualities do not originate in brain, for a substance which is subject to discord, decay, and disintegration is incapable of producing its opposite, namely, substantial, immutable, harmonious ideas. Their origin is in the divine Mind. This Mind is forever conscious, for did it have a moment's unconsciousness, during that moment it would not be Mind. This Mind, being one, can think of nothing unlike itself nor outside of itself, for it is infinite and there is none else, as the Bible says. Mind's thoughts or ideas about itself constitute man, the only man of whom God is mindful. If the true man of God's creating were the man of dust, described in the second chapter of Genesis, or the man descended from monkeys, described by evolution, think of what extremely ungodlike and unspiritual things God would be mindful. And it would follow that the more we knew of God the more we would have to know of such material beliefs as dust, monkeys, rivers, and so forth. These are all well in their place, but surely no one believes them to be immortal, eternal facts. These theories pertain only to mortality, and as mortality is laid off these views will be laid off with it, for, as Paul says, "this mortal must put on immortality." The material theory of evolution is probably as logical as anything can be about the descendant of mortal man, but its study cannot prove as uplifting, spiritualizing, health-giving, nor purifying as the study of the perfect man, for this study requires that thought ascend to the real man's origin, to the most high God. Material evolution but bears out the revelation of Christian Science, namely, that God's idea man, and a mortal's concept of man are two diametrically opposite things. Only one of these concepts can actually be man. In "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" Mrs. Eddy makes this clear contrast between the man of material evolution and the man of God's creating revealed by Christian Science. She says (p.
189): "The human mortal mind, by an inevitable perversion, makes all things start from the lowest instead of from the highest mortal thought. The reverse is the case with all the formations of the immortal divine Mind. They proceed from the divine source; and so, in tracing them, we constantly ascend in infinite being."

Even the most learned men do not claim to understand perfectly the origin of a mortal, his substance and his nature. This mystery with regard to mortal life has led some to consider it a marvellous creation, and natural scientists, physicians, and others have continued to grope from one theory to another in the hope of finding the proper solution to the enigma of mortal existence, an existence which can no more be explained than can the statement that two times two are five. Just as this statement is a false concept of a mathematical truth, so mortal existence is a false concept of Life.
Neither can be explained, for they are mistakes, and are therefore unscientific. Mystery can afford no satisfaction to the reasoning person, if it indicates either ignorance or superstition. Geography, for example, dispels the mystery with regard to the shape of the earth, its rotations and revolutions, which seem to the physical senses the opposite to that which they really are. In accepting these correct explanations we have to deny the physical sense testimony which claims that we live on flat earth, and the sun going around it. Surely, if we are willing to deny this evidence in order to accept the correct statements with regard to the earth, we cannot hesitate to deny the physical sense testimony with regard to man, and to see him with our intelligence instead of with our material eyes, particularly as this scientific seeing restores to us our health, happiness, and purity. Christian Science dispels all mystery with regard to God and man, and it shows that we must understand, know, and love the man of whom God is mindful.

If we are not to know God and man, in other words, if we are not to have a science revealing the truth about them, then Jesus' work is in vain, for he said, "I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly." And then he defines life in these words, "this is life eternal, that they might know thee,
the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent." Jesus came, then, not to mystify us but that we might have a more abundant knowledge of God and man, and that we might know God and man as he knew them. This true knowledge he declared to be life eternal.

MARY BAKER EDDY
In order to judge others correctly we must have some comprehension of their motives. Mrs. Eddy gives as her life-motive the following (Retrospection and Introspection, p. 30): "The motive of my earliest labors has never changed. It was to relieve the sufferings of humanity by a sanitary system that should include all moral and religious reform." Could there be a more comprehensive or unselfish motive? It was never Mrs. Eddy's desire to thrust her personality forward or in any way to court personal adulation. In order, however, to understand Christian Science it is essential to have a proper appreciation of Mrs.
Eddy's place as its Discoverer, Founder, and Leader. Just as we could never grasp the meaning and portion of the Civil War without some understanding of the motives, aims, and the place of Abraham Lincoln, so we cannot apprehend the purpose and possibilities of the Christian Science movement without discerning the place and work of its Leader. No one would ever be foolish enough to claim that Lincoln could be supplanted, but there are those to-day who are claiming that they can take Mrs.
Eddy's place as the Leader of the Christian Science movement. Because the world seems willing to listen to these falsities which would not be given a hearing did they concern other well-known people, it is necessary that these claims be refuted and Mrs. Eddy's place be made clear. Her own words about Paul might well be applied to this situation (Science and Health, p. 560): "To misunderstand Paul, was to be ignorant of the divine idea he taught. Ignorance of the divine idea betrays one once a greater ignorance of the divine Principle of the idea—ignorance of Truth and Love." Only he who knows most about the subject and proves it best can be a leader. Any one who acknowledges any other leadership than Mrs.
Eddy's is ignorant of the Science which it was her mission to revelation.

MOVIES WILL LIFT

WEST DECLARED THAT ORANGE COUNTY HAS JURISDICTION OF THE CASE AND REMINGTON COULD BE BROUGHT HERE FOR TRIAL, IF DESIRED. HIS OPINION SUPERSEDED AN EARLIER STATEMENT FROM ANOTHER SOURCE TO THE EFFECT THAT BECAUSE REMINGTON WAS TAKEN ABOARD THE TRAIN IN LOS ANGELES, INSTEAD OF IN ORANGE COUNTY, HE COULD NOT BE TRIED HERE, JURISDICTION IN THE CASE BEING CONFINED TO THE TERRITORY TRAVELED BY THE TRAIN.

LIFE PENALTY FOR REMINGTON IS ADVOCATED

Unless the condition of his victim should unexpectedly change for the worse, Raymond R. Remington, Olive bank robber who failed in an attempt to escape from a train that was bearing him from Santa Ana to San Quentin, will not be brought back to Orange county for prosecution in connection with his attack upon Deputy Sheriff Joe Scott near Bakersfield.

District Attorney Z. B. West Jr., made this announcement today,
after studying the Remington case for several days. The chance of inflicting the death penalty, provided by law in such cases, is so slight that it would not justify the risk involved in placing so desperate a criminal as Remington in position to escape, West concluded.

"Remington already has two possible life sentences for bank robbery. These, combined with the aggravating assault upon Deputy Sheriff Scott, are before the state prison board. Today, I am forwarding the formal recommendation of this office that the full penalty of life imprisonment be imposed in Remington's case. I think that, in view of all the circumstances, it will be imposed," West said.

"On the other hand," he continued, "while I think it is quite likely that we could secure a conviction of Remington if he was brought here for prosecution for the attack upon Scott, and that the death sentence would, accordingly, be passed upon him, I haven't the slightest belief that the governor of the state would allow the sentence to be carried out."
There is such a strong sentiment in many quarters against capital punishment in the first place, and it is so difficult to carry out the death sentence, even where a murderer has been committed, that I can see no chance to procure a hanging in a case where the victim was not permanently nor dangerously injured and is speedily recovering, even though Remington richly merits it.

"For that reason, I feel that it would be not only a waste of time and public money to bring Remington here for trial, but would only be playing into his hands, by offering him two more of the chances to escape which he seems to want so desperately."

West declared that Orange county has jurisdiction of the case and Remington could be brought here for trial, if desired. His opinion superceded an earlier statement from another source to the effect that because Remington was taken aboard the train in Los Angeles, instead of in Orange county, he could not be tried here, jurisdiction in the case being confined to the territory traversed by the train.

MOVIES WILL LIFT GLOOM OF LEPROS

LOS ANGELES, April 29.—The constant shadow of tragedy that hangs over the leper colonies of the Philippines Islands and the Virgin Islands will be lightened soon by the arrival of 750,000 feet of movie comedy film.

Five thousand afflicted persons in these colonies eagerly await the pictures, which have been sent by Motion Picture Producers and Distributors, Inc., of which Will Hays is president. Among the gifts are news reels to bring a glimpse of the world to those patients who must spend the remainder of their lives away from civilization.

Most of the lepers are illiterate;
few speak the same language;
practically none will be able to read the sub-titles. Yet the colonies are wild with joy at the prospect of a break in the monotony of their tragic lives. They have it all figured out that 750,000 feet of film means 200 pictures, almost one a night for a year. And by that time they will be ready to see them all over again.

Don't Copy Venus, Girls; Be Dianas!

SEATTLE, Wn., April 29.—A new goal of beauty toward which American femininity should strive has been set by Miss Mary E.
Goss, head of the department of physical education of the University of Washington. No longer, she says, should Venus be held up as an example of perfect womanhood.
The new type of girl is being developed after Diana. Venus had lots of lines and curves, but was a bit too near the piano-mover type, she says. Diana, on the other hand, combines grace and speed with beauty. She is full of pep, and—what is particularly appropriate—is goddess of the hunt.
Says Miss Goss: "Try to imagine Venus dancing the Charleston."

EFFEKTUAL PRAYER
Solomon's counsel to acknowledge God in all our ways is disregarded when we do not acknowledge Him as the only Physician. The Lord's Prayer expresses comprehensively the fact that God is available for every human need. This prayer and the daily prayer in the Manual of The Mother Church are the only two formulated prayers used by Christian Scientists. To them the Lord's Prayer is not a petition to God to be our Father but an acknowledgment of the fact that He is our Creator, that His kingdom is everywhere,
even where disease seems to prevail,
His good and loving will is the only will,
that He supplies, forgives, and delivers from sin, disease, and death.
John in his first epistle explains the prayer in this manner when he says, "If we know that he hear-us, whatsoever we ask, we know that we have the petitions that we desired of him." All of you here know the Lord's Prayer, so test sometime, if you will, its healing and saving power by affirming its statements instead of pleading

Our Neighbors

LONG BEACH—Imitating the fabled phoenix, which took form again from its own ashes, Los Cerritos, once a beautiful suburb of Long Beach but destroyed as such by the oil drill, is emerging from the petroleum blight and developing anew as a place of homes. Cooperating with private enterprises engaged in the rebuilding of Los Cerritos, the municipal legislative body has started proceedings for an extensive program of street improvements in the suburban district on the heights north of Willow street and west of American avenue. Acting on a petition presented by property owners, the council has directed the engineering department to institute proceedings for the improvement of Birby road and streets lying north of Birby in Los Cerritos by constructing concrete pavement and walks and curbs where not already constructed.

GIRARD—Recently compiled figures show that there are about 10, 000 acres planted to walnuts in San Fernando valley. Of this amount about 7500 acres are of sufficient age to yield some part of a crop. Last year in the western end of the valley about 1000 acres of the new walnut orchards contributed to the total valley harvest of 475,000 pounds. It is now estimated that another 1000 acres will assist in swelling the total this season. Most of the best-quality walnuts are produced in sections north of here and in the vicinity of Owensmouth. Orchardists report trees blossoming in a manner indicative of a fine crop and plans already have started to battle the rampages of the codlin moth with attacks walnuts as well as apples and pear trees. By early spraying growers state they expect this year to keep the moth entirely out of valley groves.

EL CENTRO—Alfalfa leads all other crops in area planted in Imperial valley, with a total of 168, 000 acres, according to a crop report just made public by the Imperial Irrigation district. Barley is second with 47,000 acres, lettuce third, with 42,000 and cantaloupes fourth with 37,000 acres. The district reports that the total cultivated land in the Imperial basin is 357,000 acres. The average area of farms in the valley is 35 4-10 acres. Tenant farmers far outnumber those who are cropping their own land. The figures show that in a total of 4900 farms 3118 are leased. Grapefruit leads all other fruits in area with a total of 6131 acres. Less than half of this area has reached production age, however. Grapes are second with 5150 acres, practically all of which are bearing vineyards.

RESEDA—Lettuce growers in this vicinity are making an extra effort to get their crops cut and shipped to market. Most of the lettuce in the large fields here is fully matured. With the coming of hot weather damage is likely to follow. Growers say that if the warm days continue the lettuce heads will begin to sprout and turn bitter in taste. Hundreds of workers are in the fields hustling the crop into crates for shipment to market.

RIVERSIDE—Conversion of Orange street into an attractive and principal thoroughfare of the city went a step nearer realization yesterday with adoption of a resolution by the city council to widen the street to 51 feet. Colonades are to be constructed along the east side of the street between Seventh and Tenth as one of the major plans for beautifying as proposed by City Planner Charles H. Chenier, who declares Riverside will enter into a new phase of architecture. Property owners on Orange street have permitted to be allowed to grant easements for the widening and will construct the arcades for support of upper stories.
First structure under the new plan will be of Mediterranean style to be erected this summer by the Security Title Insurance and Guarantee company.
Plans were approved yesterday for this office building by the city council.

VAN NUYS—An option to buy outright was posted today on 100 acres at the southwest corner of Balboa avenue and Vanowen street, midway between here and Reseda by a large moving-picture manufacturing concern which soon will move its entire plant to this point in Central San Fernando valley.
The announcement is made by William J. Petit, one of the owners of the tract on which the option has been taken. Details of the plans of the concern or the consideration involved have not been made public. It is stated, however, that the company is one of the largest still remaining in the east and which recently decided to transfer its holdings and equipment to the Pacific coast.

TUJUNGA—Sixty thousand baby trout are being placed in the Big Tujunga, according to nimrods in this vicinity. In the earlier part of the year a request was made on the fish and game commission for 30,000 fish. The commission voluntarily doubled the order, stocking 30,000 brook trout in the lower stretches of the stream and the same number of baby rainbow in the upper parts.

RIVERSIDE—Riverside county has manufacturing concerns that did more than a $5000 business last year, according to surprising figures made public by the U. S. department of commerce through Meyer L. Schoenthal, secretary of the Riverside Chamber of Commerce, who acted as a deputy in the survey. The companies employ 402 persons who draw wages aggregating $538,027, it is disclosed.
Raw materials cost $1,270,914 and the finished products yielded a return of $3,166,522.

THE ROMANCE OF AMERICA: Andrew Jackson

Jackson added fuel to the fire of Washington gossip when he defended Peggy O'Neal, a tavernkeeper's daughter who had become the wife of General Eaton, Jackson's secretary of war. Society snubbed her, but Jackson, believing her innocent, and influenced by his love for the dead Rachel, defended the secretary and his wife in the fiery Jacksonian way.

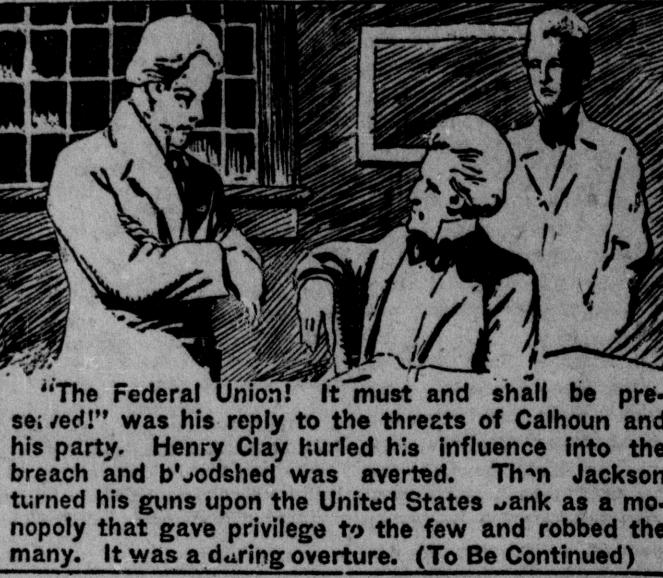

One of the high lights in Jackson's presidency was the crushing of the nullification movement in South Carolina.

©1927 BY N.E.A. SERVICE, INC.

The nullificationists opposed high tariff and threatened armed secession. Jackson, too, was against high tariff, but defended the law.

"The Federal Union! It must and shall be preserved!" was his reply to the threats of Calhoun and his party. Henry Clay hurried his influence into the breach and bidden was averted. Then Jackson turned his guns upon the United States Bank as a monopoly that gave privilege to the few and robbed the many. It was a daring overture. (To Be Continued)

HASKELL COFFIN'S CHOICE

This is Haskell Coffin's conception in oil of Miss Myrtie Roach, of Omaha, Neb., who got his vote in a beauty contest.

BY HASKELL COFFIN

For N.E.A. Service
I have been asked to define beauty, dissect it and analyze its ingredients, its dimensions and to cite illustrations of just what it looks like when realized.

But, is there such a thing as perfect beauty? I think not. It's so much a matter of personal preference that I doubt if it can be found in any one type unless it is the Venus de Milo, and the Milo is only a work of art—imagination.

Each person has his own particular ideas about beauty—what appeals to him and what does not. Preferences in coloring, formation, size and expression differ with each individual. I, for instance, like small, dainty women. Perhaps that is because I am married to one—Frances Starr.

Yet there are some general definitions that any person desiring to be measured by beauty standards must fulfill.

Beauty Is Compound

First, beauty is no single thing. It is a compound of two ingredients, generally speaking, in about the proportion of 50-50; 50 per cent structure and 50 per cent expression. Not just features, but the whole carriage, the expression of hands, carriage of the head, enter into it.

Both expression and structure can be analyzed further. But neither makes for beauty alone. A perfectly formed woman with the loveliest features in the world and lovely skin and coloring still has some important something lacking if she is unintelligent, "dumb."

On the other hand a woman with a tremendous charm of expression but not very pretty may still be acclaimed a beauty. I am acquainted with positively ugly women who knew how to capitalize expression and be "knock-outs." In choosing models to paint I prefer beauty of expression above perfection of features.

For, while the structure of features is an act of Providence often generously bestowed, often harshly, expression is the 50 per cent of beauty that a person can cultivate. Expression is the sum total of a woman's character, her disposition, her temperament.

She Got the Vote

As a judge once in a beauty contest, the girl who got my vote was not as perfectly formed as the others but her expression had an infinite sweetness and appeal that brought one's eyes back to her pleasantly.

In turn we asked each "beauty." "What is your ambition?" One and all would be movie queens, Broadway stars, artists, public successes. All, that is, except my choice. She hesitated a second and then said quietly:

"I would like to get married and has five children."

Her facial expression reflected that genuine feminine sweetness that most men, even modern ones, value. It gave a quality of real beauty to her.

Beauty in general should have a naturalness about it. That is one reason I do not like bobbed hair. Long hair has a natural grace that the standardized bob often lacks.

The carmine lips, the enamel-like powdered faces, and the tightly marcelled coiffures of many women today harden and give them an artificiality that can never be akin to beauty.

Youth's Bloom

Worse, perhaps, is the young girl who uses purple, orange or crimson rouge and lip-stick. For youth has its own bloom, a delicate one, that is utterly lost under makeup.

The charm of woman is in her completeness and harmony, grace and simplicity—and a painted mask is not this, nor a part of her. Use it very lightly if you would be distinguished—makeup is an art few understand, for it must appear natural.

Who "could paint the lily or gild refined gold," as Shakespeare has said?

NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNERS (WEEDS)

The City of Santa Ana will commence cutting weeds April 26th; if same have not been taken care of by the property owner prior to the arrival of the city forces, the Street Department will cut the weeds without further notice.

Your attention is called to the fact that during previous years it has been necessary to re-clean some lots where the weeds have only been partially cut by the owners in order to avoid this confusion; anyone is uncertain as to whether their lots are properly cleaned, please call Phone No. 1136 and a city inspector will be sent to inspect the lots.

It will be necessary for residents on South Main street, from First street to Edinger street, to set out all garbage and trash on the parkway of the cross street while construction work is under way.

Water Lily

It is not the same flower, however, as the water lily belongs to the groups known as the water nymphs rather than the true lotus clan.

The beauty and fragrance of the water lily has caused it to be much sought after for garden tanks and hothouse culture, and of recent years botanists and flower growers have made such progress in producing hybrids that the flower may now be had in almost any color desired.

Yellow, rose, rose-carmine, scarlet, pale blue, bright blue and purple are some of the tints which this lovely flower has been made to take. But at that, for most of us, the loveliest of all water lilies are those of purest white, with golden centers, that we gathered from mud-bottomed ponds in days of childhood.

THE PROUD FATHER

I met him on the street today

An old time friend who broadly smiled And stopped me in his friendly way

To brag about his little child.

"The wonder of the world is she!

There never was a girl so smart

She's one you surely ought to see

She is her mother's counterpart!

"She sings, she dances and she plays,

Recites and does a lot of stuff.

She has her mother's clever ways!

The boy! Oh, gee that rascal's tough!

I wouldn't say so much for him,

In school he isn't worth a dime!

The kid can throw a ball and swim,

But he is fighting all the time."

And then he laughed and said goodbye.

A proud, devoted, happy dad,

Who boasted, just the same as I,

A lovely girl and healthy lad.

And she, her mother's counterpart,

He told me was his greater joy,

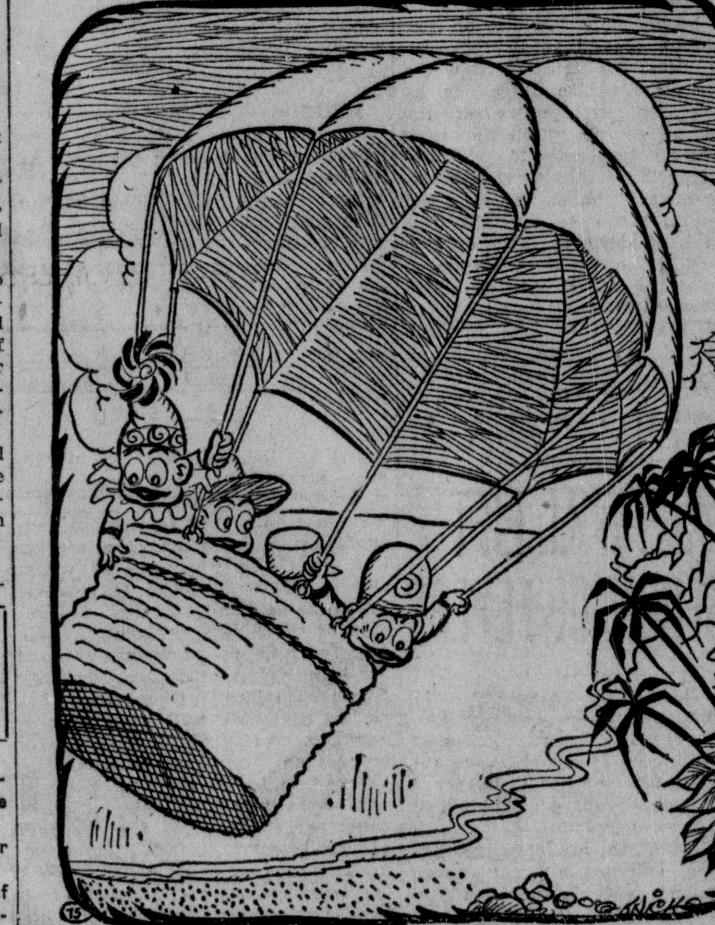

But knowing well that father's heart

I'd say he loved that fighting boy.

THE TINYMITES

REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE) 6

The big goose took the Tinymites out on a trip to see real sights. They soared o'er the tree tops, with the land, far, far below. Said Clowny, "Gee, I wish I knew, just where he's going to take us to." And Copy answered, "What's the diff? We'll simply have to go."

They finally moved out near a stream. It all seemed almost like a dream. The basket large, which held them, started swaying in the breeze. "Oh, my!" yelled Scouty. "This is grand. Just look! We're out of sight of land." And, sure enough, below them there was water, instead of trees.

Of things below they all took note. They saw a lighthouse and a boat. The goose was surely going fast, but where to, no one knew. "Twould swoop up high, then dip down low, and swing the basket to and fro. It seemed the goose was doing all the funny pranks it knew."

Said Copy, "Hey, stand still! Don't shove." And then he added, "Look above! I think the goose is leaving us. The ropes are getting loose. What can we do?"

This frightens me. We'll soon be falling in the sea." And Scouty said, "Don't worry, 'cause there isn't any use."

And then they saw the goose dip low, and from beneath the long ropes go. The basket they were standing in began to quickly drop.

"Oh, my!" said Carpy, "I'll just bet, we'll soon be in the sea, all wet. I hope it doesn't hurt us when we take a sudden flop."

But, when a short ways it had dropped, the basket jolted, jerked and stopped. The Tinyties saw that they were safe, and all began to hoot. "Aw, shucks," said one, "I knew that goose would never really turn us loose. The ropes fastened to are on a parachute."

The Tinyties are caught in a rain storm in the next story.)

CANADA NOTES BIG INCREASE IN EMIGRATION

H. B. Oil Workers Ordered to Stay Away from Well

HUNTINGTON BEACH, April 29.—There has been a notable increase in emigration to Canada in the first three months of this year as compared with the corresponding quarter of 1926. Taking the persons sent out to the dominion under state-aided schemes, the numbers in January were 1187, as compared with 109 last year; in February they were 3151, as compared with 3121, and in March they were 5955 as compared with 5193. These figures give totals of 10,243 for the three months this year, and 6623 a year ago.

Peak in May

Emigration does not reach its peak until May, so that the statistics for six months are likely to be exceptionally high.

During the year ended March 31 over 5000 settlers proceeded overseas under the direction of the Salvation Army—an increase of nearly 40 per cent on the previous year. It is expected that the movements to Canada from all sources this year will show an increase of at least 60 per cent over the movement in the preceding year, and the figures for 1926 were 61 per cent higher than those for 1925.

State-aided emigration represents about 45 per cent of the total emigration. The state-aided emigrant goes out on basis of paying two pounds for the ocean passage and reduced rates forward to all parts of the dominion, which means that transportation is secured for 20 per cent of the actual cost, the balance being provided in equal proportions by the British and Canadian governments. The steamship companies, while making no reduction in their rates, give a drawback on each ticket which varies according to the destination of the passenger.

Farm and Domestic Work

All persons going out with state assistance must be prepared to take up agricultural employment or domestic service. The employment is usually secured before the emigrant leaves this country and is in any case arranged by the Canadian government. Qualifications in the case of domestic service are previous experience, good character, and good health. In the case of single men a proportion of them are accepted without previous experience in agricultural work, but the men are required to give a pledge to go to farm work in Canada.

About 500 families have been sent out under what is known as the 3000 families scheme whereby a family is sent direct from England and placed on a Canadian farm already provided by the dominion government, which they will purchase at a cheap rate by small equal annual payments spread over a long period. In order to facilitate the settlement of these families the overseas settlement committee grants a sum of $300 pounds in each case for buildings, equipment, and stock, while the Canadian government undertakes the supervision, direction, and assistance of the immigrants, provides the land, and looks after the collection of financial commitments.

AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF SANTA ANA, CALIFORNIA, ADDING ORDINANCE NO. 658 AS AMENDED BY ORDINANCE NO. 710 AND 711, SECTION 17 THEREOF, BY ADDING SECTION 17A, AND REPEALING SECTION 17, AND AFTER REPEALING ALL OTHER SECTION OF ORDINANCE NO. 658, AS AMENDED.

The Board of Trustees of the City of Santa Ana do ordain as follows:

SECTION I. That Section 17 of Ordinance No. 658, as amended, be repealed.

SECTION II. That there shall be added a new section to said Ordinance No. 658, as amended, to be known as Section 17a and shall read as follows:

"It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, corporation or association to sell, dispose of or offer for sale in the City of Santa Ana, to public and to the general consumer, to be sold, disposed of or offered for sale in the City of Santa Ana, California, at public auction, any platinum, gold, silver or plated articles, precious stones, or semi-precious stones, watches or other jewelry, whether the same shall be their own property or whether they shall be the property of another, or of employees of others, except judicial sales or those made by plotters or administrators of the estates of decedents; and excepting also sales made in public auction of the stock on hand of any person or persons or corpora-

Troubles of the McLaughlin Oil company were carried into court yesterday, when warrants charging nearly a dozen oil workers with disturbing the peace were sworn out in Justice of the Peace C. P. Penn's court.

The company's well was nearly completed and the operators promised the workmen their wages when the well came in, according to reports. The oil workers refused to work under such an arrangement and refused to let other workers take their places, it is asserted. Judge Penn ordered the oil workers to keep away from the McLaughlin well and to allow the company to finish it.

According to Penn all records in civil cases in the justice court have been broken during the past few weeks.

The application shall then be investigated by the City Clerk and police and other agents of the Board of Trustees by virtue of the power given to the character of the applicant and his auctioneers, the nature and purpose of the proposed sale and whether the place where it is proposed to carry on said sale is a proper place." The Board of Trustees must be furnished also with evidence that the jeweler proposed to be sold is bona fide part of the merchant's stock in trade and not secondhand, purchased or brought into said place of business for, or in anticipation of said sale. The Board of Trustees in considering the proposed sale, shall examine a reasonable and sound discretion in granting or denying the permit applied for, provided further, that such sale is put on auction and held on successive days, Sundays and legal holidays excepted, and shall not continue for more than thirty (30) days in any month the commencement of the sale, and shall be permitted only where such merchant is bona fide disposing of his stock for the purpose of realizing from business that he has been unable to conduct during the day time between the hours of six and eight o'clock.

The every person, firm or corporation conducting, managing or carrying on or engaged in the business of selling at public auction, goods, wares or merchandise shall pay a license fee of $10.00 per month, payable in advance daily in advance. That every person, firm or corporation conducting, managing or carrying on or engaged in the business of selling at public auction any chattels other than goods, wares or merchandise, shall pay a license fee of $10.00 per month, payable in advance daily in advance.

SECTION III. That each and every section or part of section of Ordinance No. 658, as amended, not expressly repealed by this ordinance shall be and remain in full force and effect.

City Clerk shall certify to the passage of and cause the same to be published three (3) times in the Santa Ana Daily Evening Register, a newspaper of record, and circulation published and circulated in the said City and it shall take effect thirty (30) days after the date of the publication of the same.

The foregoing ordinance is approved this 25th day of April, 1927.

F. L. PURINTON
President of the Board of Trustees.

E. L. VEGELY,
City Clerk.

The above and foregoing ordinance was introduced at an adjourned regular meeting held on the 14th day of April, 1927, and duly passed and adopted at a regular meeting of the Board of Trustees, held on the 25th day of April, 1927, by the following vote:

JACK LOCKWELL'S HIDDEN ENEMY

By GILBERT PATTEN

The riderless pony tore through the main street of the village and onward toward the academy grounds. "He must have thrown that boy off somewhere," said a man.

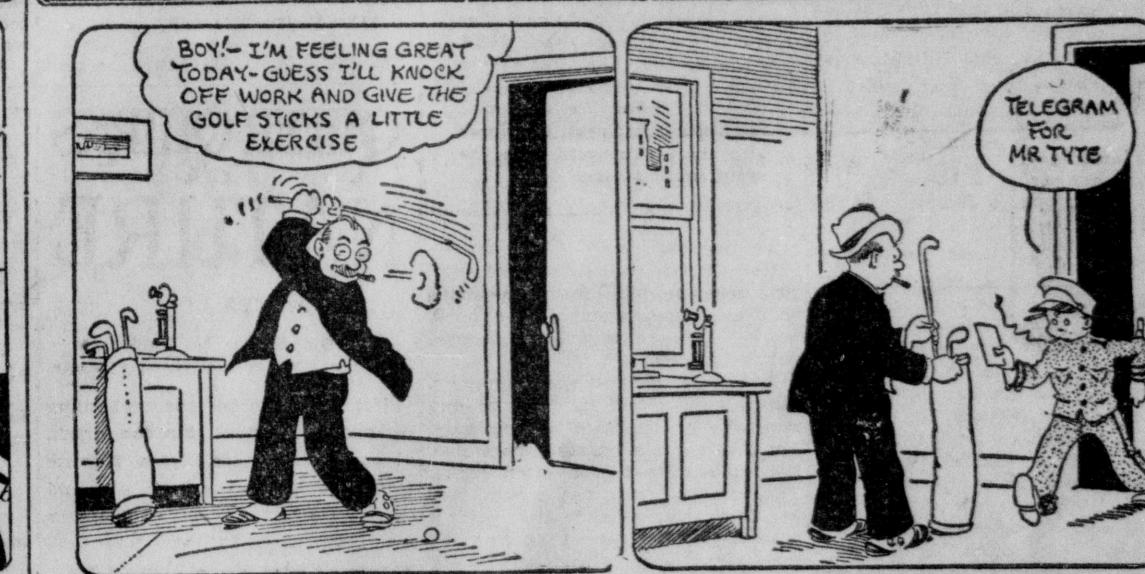

In the shadow of a horse-stall, not far away, stood Lockwell's assailant and captor, smoking an old pipe. He chuckled hoarsely when Jack lifted his chin from his breast. "Think you're a pretty smart young fellow, don't ye?" he said. "Well, you've met somebody that's a darn sight smarter'n you be." "Who are you?" asked Jack. "Don't you wish you knew?" was the answer.

Interesting News of the Day Told In Pictures

Unbowed is pretty Ruth McCauley, who has been designated by her fellow students to reign at the forthcoming campus carnival at Swarthmore college. Her mother, Mrs. E. M. H. McCauley, is Pennsylvania state director of public welfare.

Easter in Princess Bluiak's country is not a matter of how much you can take off and still appear well dressed. The princess is shown in the costume she wore upon arrival in Seattle, Wash., from Nome the other day. It's one of the latest models and worth $800.

Sgt. Alvin C. York, of Jamestown, Tenn., World war hero, who turned down thousands of dollars in vaudeville and movie offers so he could help educate the children of the Tennessee hills, is "bringing home the beef" now. He is shown here (right) with R. V. Colbert, banker of Fort Worth, Tex., who presented York with the Hereford heifer. York had expressed regret that his hill people had no Hereford cattle.

New York's most spectacular fire was the midnight burning of scaffolding atop the nearly completed 28-story Hotel Netherland. Every available fireman was summoned to protect neighboring homes of the wealthy from a blizzard of sparks from the blaze. No one was injured.

Four feet is the diameter of this little cranial tent recently "built" for Miss Mamie Lee of Los Angeles. When Mamie tried it out she couldn't squeeze into a taxi or a street car. Dry though.

Inviting flying weather calls the sky-giant Los Angeles from the naval hangar at Lakehurst, N. J., for her first spring flight, as this exceptional photo depicts. In the foreground is her tiny fellow blimp, the J-2.

This unusual picture, from Port Arthur, Tex., seems to bear out scientists' recent claims that Jonah would have fit very comfortably into the belly of a whale and had some room to elbow around in besides. This catch, made by Captain Plummer of the whaling fleet, who is shown at the monster's mouth, is 55 feet long and weighs plenty.

At 20, Miss Faye Ferguson, concert pianist, finds herself incorporated, with a board of directors and everything. She is believed to be the first concert artist ever financed in this manner. She has appeared in several cities as soloist with the Cincinnati symphony orchestra.

Living quietly with her children in her apartment house in Milan, seeking no fame, entertaining seldom, Signorina Rachel Mussolini might never be taken as the wife of the "dictator of all Italy." This new photograph is one of the few pictures ever obtained of Il Duce's wife.

Mrs. Tabithy Cat announces the removal of her family from their former residence under the Smith porch to more commodious accommodations in somebody's back shed. An addition to her family has made larger quarters imperative, Mrs. Cat explained. But then the moving problem is a simple one for her, particularly since her offspring, Kitty Cat, indicated a fondness for travel—even if she doesn't evince it here.

Judge P. F. Gosbey in the superior court at San Jose, Calif., is noted as a stickler for formality, but spring days brought a strange reaction from him recently. Sighting Mrs. Nye Farley on the jury in a civil action, he asked her to his desk and opened court with a whistling solo from the noted artist.

An instrument that will curb accidents in races, jumps and ordinary riding of horses—that's what Dr. E. E. Emmons says his "Ophthalmoscope" will do. This instrument, says Dr. Emmons, will accurately determine the vision of a horse.

Now if you were a thirsty pussy cat and found the baby's milk bottle out in the yard and needed help to get its luscious contents what would you do? So did Pepper! What good are friends, anyway, no matter how "hard-boiled" the how, if they're not at times helpful? So did Pepper! This is the only American-grown orchid, exhibited at the Philadelphia flower show. For its beauty, Mrs. A. Rainey, of Columbus, Ohio, was an appropriate exhibitor. The bloom was developed after eight years' experimentation and cross-breeding with English orchids.

For 21 years Will Watterson was hunted for murder at Tishomingo, Okla. He was believed dead until few days ago, when it was learned he was a prisoner in a Nevada penitentiary. Gov. Johnston of Oklahoma has requested his extradition.

Nora Bayes has lots of things named in her honor. New York named a theater after the popular musical comedy and variety star. Now a Detroit floriculturist, Vincent R. DePetrini, has named a new white carnation the "Nora Bayes carnation." Nora is shown here with an armful of them.

TEX RICKARD READY TO PUT ANOTHER $100,000 IN BANK TO GUARANTEE TUNNEY BOUT

By HENRY L. FARRELL
NEW YORK, April 29.—Tex Rickard was due to lay another $100,000 on the line today as evidence of his good faith in promising Gene Tunney to get him a fight this year against some kind of a challenger.

It is no longer a front page item for Rickard to post such a sum. To draw notice to it, the name of Jack Dempsey was inserted into the ceremony.

Gus Wilson—who trained Carpenter for his fight against Dempsey, and intimated that the Frenchman was a cinch to win, and who trained Dempsey for the Tunney fight and gave a confidential tip to his friends that Dempsey couldn't miss—is now, reputedly acting as manager for the former champion.

Reasons For Doubt

Regardless of the fact that Wilson says Dempsey is coming back and that Rickard says Dempsey is coming back and that Dempsey himself says he is coming back, there are good reasons to be skeptical about it. So far, it seems, Wilson's only duty has been to persuade Rickard that Dempsey is not hollow shell and that anything Rickard says will go with Dempsey—if "the percentage" is right.

Rickard, between puffs of his celebrated cheroot, says Dempsey will draw close to a million dollars against the woodchopper, Pao-lino. The New York commission, unless it takes a cartwheel backward, will not permit the customers to be taxed more than $22 for the best seats as there would be no championship involved.

Paoline Has Only Size. So it looks like a tight squeeze to get $1,000,000 into the Yankee stadium for the bout. The Basque had nothing but size, a concrete stomach and a granite jaw to qualify him as a contender.

It is hazardous, however, to question Rickard's judgment when he expresses an opinion on how much the public's pocketbook will

CAPTAIN HARVEY BEAR

The fastest thing on two legs in Santa Ana, Harvey Bear, skipper of the Santa Ana high school track and field team, will be the cynosure of all eyes when he comes out of his holes in the 220-yard dash in the Southern California Interscholastic finals at the Los Angeles Coliseum tomorrow. Bear's arch rivals, Frank Wykoff and Russ Slocum, of Glendale, are aching to take the Santa Ana's measure and Bear would like to administer a merciful thrashing to them so it's an even-steven proposition all the way around. The winner will have to run under 22 seconds flat.

JUNIORS VICTORIOUS OVER SENIOR GIRLS

If the junior girls of the Santa Ana high school succeed in toppling the rival seniors in the next game of the interscholastic indoor baseball championship series next Tuesday, in the manner that they defeated the sophomores yesterday by a score of 11 to 6, the series may result in a tie requiring a play-off between the two upperclass teams. The seniors already hold one victory over the juniors.

The sophomore co-eds were eliminated from all chance for the championship by yesterday's defeat, the second they have suffered. The box score:

Miss Thelma Patton, Santa Ana junior college tennis star and the Santa Ana junior chamber of commerce's representative in the annual Ojai tennis tournament, won by default in her first match that was to have been played yesterday.

Miss Patton was to have played Miss L. King but Miss King failed to put in her appearance.

The Frances E. Willard junior high school tennis squad left for Ojai today to take part in the tourney in the grammar school division.

S. A. GIRLS DEFEAT ANAHEIM ON COURT

Four out of five matches were won by Santa Ana high school girls in the opening tournament of the Orange county tennis league against Anaheim on the Poly courts. The score for the tournament was 14 to 7 in favor of the Santa Ana co-ed racquet wielders.

The girls are to meet Fullerton, Garden Grove, Tustin in dual meets before the county tournament at Fullerton May 13 and 14.

The results:

Singles—Melva Roquet (A) defeated Louise Pea (SA) 7-5, 5-7, 7-5; Lucille Huston (SA) defeated Eleanor Plamer (A) 6-2, 6-3; Mildred Paul (SA) defeated Jessie Johnston (A) 6-1, 6-4; Cleora Fine (SA) defeated Helen Grafton (A) 7-5, 6-2.

Doubles—Rachel Smith and Blanche Hillman (SA) defeated Martha Adams and Mabel White (A) 6-4, 7-5.

Ambling Golfer Forced to Quit Drive to Coast

LOS ANGELES, April 29.—If Doc Graham, erstwhile aspirant to the long distance golf crown, can raise enough money he is going back to Texas to resume a drive started from Mobile some months ago.

One hundred and forty golf balls, reposing in the highways and byways between Mobile and Ozona, Texas, was Graham's answer here today to the reason for the failure of his spectacular attempt to "golf across country."

"I split my last 70 cents with my caddie when we reached Ozona," Graham said. "He has the clubs and if I can get the money to buy more balls we will start over again."

POLY ARTILLERY BEGINS ACTION IN 8TH FRAME

Drysdale Gets Stronger As Game Proceeds; 3 Double Plays Field Feature

Unlimbering its heavy artillery in the eighth round and cutting loose a devastating blanket-fire on the hosts of Glendale high school, Santa Ana won another Coast Preparatory league baseball game, 4 to 2, its third victory in as many weeks, at Poly field yesterday.

Finding "Spees" Drysdale, the local crew's begoggled deceiver, a bit unsteady in the first two innings and profiting by some lackadaisical Poly support, Glendale drew into a 2 to 0 lead in the first two chukkers but wasted this away when Coach Bill Foote's swatsmills hits the range later in the day.

Drysdale, like onions, grew stronger as the thing progressed and he was seldom in deep water because his infield lieutenants perked up and turned in three sparkling double plays, First Sacker Yonel assisting in the twin killings with a couple of stops.

S. A. Crowding Long Beach

Santa Ana now is crowding Long Beach for first place in the league standings, the Jackrabbits holding the only decision over Foote's men, that being obtained after 10 frantic spasms.

Captain Beatty dropped a third strike of A. Tunega, Glendale's first sticker, and this led to a Glendale run in the first frame, Tunega was sacrificed to second and came home when Marion doubled to the left field fence.

Another miscue was instrumental in the second, Dynamiter tally which was chalked up in the second. Reel singled to short right, Koral making a nice try for the ball but failing to hold it. Kelly was conventional and sacrificed. Robinson was out infield but A. Tunega blasted a liner to Blakeney in left field and Blakeney dropped it, Reel scampering home.

PACIFIC COAST SENATORS WILL ADD TO POWER

WASHINGTON, April 29—Chairmanships of five committees in the senate, and at least four, possibly five, in the house, will be held by the Pacific coast states and Nevada in the congress convening next December, assuming that the Republicans will be able to organize the senate. California will rank first in these chairmanships, holding two each in the senate and house, with the possibility of landing a third in the house.

Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California will continue as chairman of the immigration committee, and his colleague, Senator Samuel M. Shortridge, is scheduled to take over the helm of the privileges and elections committee before which will come the contests over the seating of Smith of Illinois and Vare of Pennsylvania.

Senator Eddie of Nevada again will be chairman of the committee on mines and mining, and will advance to the ranking Republican membership on naval affairs. His colleague, Key Pittman, will be the ranking Democratic member on the public lands and territories committee, and the second ranking Democratic on foreign relations and interstate commerce. Pittman will be the Democratic candidate for president pro tem of the senate.

Lands Place Last
Senator McNary of Oregon will hold the chairmanship of agriculture and forestry, and Jones of Washington will be at the head of the commerce committee. The defeat of Senator Standish of Oregon carried with it the loss to the Pacific coast of the chairmanship of the senate public lands committee, which will go to Norbeck of South Dakota.

Representative Charles F. Curry of Sacramento will continue as chairman of the house territories committee, a post he has held for the past nine years, and will be the ranking Republican member of the flood control committee. Swing of El Centro is the only other member of the California delegation who is certain of a chairmanship, that of a minor committee in charge of expenditures in the post office department.

Representative Free, San Jose, may advance to the chairmanship of Merchant marine and fisheries, depending upon a decision yet to be made by Representative White of Maine as to whether he will resign from the rules committee to accept the post. A member of the rules committee cannot hold the chairmanship of another committee, so if White decides to remain on rules, the merchant marine chairmanship will go to the Californian. Immigration Committee Representative Albert Johnson of Washington again will be chairman of the house immigration committee, which is expected to report out a bill reducing the immigration quotas so as further to restrict the number of aliens coming to this country. Johnson also will be the ranking Republican member on the territories committee.

The chairmanship of public lands will continue with Representative Sinnott of Oregon, the ranking Republican member on the irrigation and reclamation committee under Chairman Smith of Idaho. One of the first things this latter committee will do is to report out the Swing-Johnson bill for construction of the Boulder dam in the Colorado river.

Representative Hawley, Oregon, will be the ranking Republican member of the ways and means committee, and Representative Arentz, Nevada, will hold the ranking Republican membership on the committee governing expenditures in the interior department.

Coolidge Is Quick To Pick Up Words In Sign Language

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Anouncement that he is going west for the summer is bringing President Coolidge all manner of invitations and suggestions.

He was amused recently to receive a book on the Indian sign language to aid him in any contact with Indians during his vacation.

Representative Swing of California offered the book with the remark that it might aid the president in further improving his reputation for silence. Mr. Swing said Mr. Coolidge glanced through the book and picked up the language hurriedly.

The president was so adept at the sign language," the Californian said, "that without so much as saying a word he quickly conveyed the idea to me that my visit was ended. That came just after I pointed out a chapter about political science and after I had suggested it might be helpful in 1928. He smiled and I got the sign and left."

Says Human Body Made Entirely Of Electric Cells

PARIS, April 29.—Man is a mass of "electric" cells, says Dr. Lakhovsky, a biological specialist, whose conclusions recently set the August Academy of Science to buzzing.

Every living cell, says Lakhovsky, has in it an insulated tube filled with an electric conductor that oscillates when influenced by high frequency currents set in motion by various atmospheric phenomena.

This electric activity within man, it is explained, fits in with the recent content of Dr. Faure before the Academy of Medicine that sun spots cause the number of sudden deaths to be doubled.

Further, Lakhovsky asserts, members of the vegetable kingdom likewise respond to the electric influence and thrive when the atmospheric oscillations are most intense.

SILVER-THROATED LAD TAKEN FOR BURGLAR

SEE-SAWING Up and Down FOURTH STREET

By The Rambler

Now that the timbre of the silvery notes of Robert Bradford has brought the young Santa Ana vocalist country-wide attention, it might not be immaterial at this time to divulge a quaint tale that concerns not only Bradford but also a certain member of the local police force, by gum.

This happened, I am told, one night approximately three years ago when Bradford was yet a high school lad and, being particularly ambitious, was employed as a sort of part-time assistant janitor of the city hall, the structure that houses, among others, the chief of police and his staff of merry-men.

On this particular evening, young Bradford was seriously bent on cleansing the upper corridor of the building, a dusty, if not such a laborious feat, and having been duly cautioned even at that tender age against the annoying consequences to the voice of particles of foul excrement, he had prepared for himself an effective guard against these segments of sawdust, popcorn balls, mud and cinnamon rolls.

It is not recorded just how or why the police officer of our story proceeded at this juncture to prowl about in the second story of the city hall, a floor unoccupied of nights. But this he did and that is how a most unusual sight befell his attention.

There, sweeping away industriously, was a burglar. At least this person's face was masked, a white handkerchief covering that part of his face up to the eyes and a slouch cap almost shrouding the rest.

"Well," exclaimed the officer to himself as he whipped out his automatic and leveled it at the broom-pushing intruder, "T'll be a cup of coffee."

He approached the "burglar." "Reach for your ears, young feller," he said aloud. "Trot along there and go down them stairs. You may think you are pretty all-fired smart up here posin' as a janitor but I'm hep to you."

Whereupon the officer planted his

QUEER SPLASHES

London Opera To HAVE BIG SEASON

PARIS, April 29.—Startlingly high prices for the primitive canvases of Henri Rousseau, a painter who couldn't paint, again are amazing the world of modern art.

These queer splash of color, crude in design, devoid of studio technique, revive stories of the ruse made a quarter of a century ago over the French customs employee. He never had an hour's instruction in composition; but $5,000 francs was paid recently for a picture that many art critics consider nothing more than the odd effort of childish, untrained effort.

Rousseau painted to amuse himself and his friends. Sometimes he copied figures from catalogues. His human figures are clear-cut spots of color, like paper dolls.

"The cult for Rousseau," explains one critic, "was the sign of a reaction against all the mannerism, falsehood, trickery and mechanical formulae of a school of painting as empty as it was artificial.

Rousseau once said his dead wife sometimes directed his brush.

Colorado River
Body Pays Visit
To State Senate

SACRAMENTO, April 29.—Bringing a message of good will from the state of Arizona, five members of the Arizona Colorado river commission were presented to the California state senate yesterday and were honored by seats on the rostrum with Lt. Gov. Burton R. Fitts.

"California and Arizona have been saying harsh things at long distance for the last four years over a matter of vital importance to at least two and perhaps five other states in the drainage area of the Colorado river," said H. S. McCluskey, former secretary to Gov. G. W. P. Hunt of Arizona, and a member of the commission.

"It is our hope, by this get-acquainted trip, to do something constructive toward settling the questions at issue between the states. Out of the friendships we make on this journey we hope to solve the vexatious problems that have strained the relationship of the states during this time."

The other members of the commission, all of whom are members of the Arizona legislature, were Senators Thomas S. Kimball, Thatcher; A. H. Fabur, Prescott; Speaker A. M. Crawford, Clarkdale, and Representative Michael Murphy, of Globe.

with limited recreation at Guantanoamo and Goanives, Haiti.

The main purpose in bringing the fleet to New York is to give the officers and crews an extend recreation period. It will be the first time since 1919 that the fleet has visited the "big city."

The 112 vessels consist of 56 ships of the Atlantic or scouting fleet and 52 vessels of the battle fleet which bases in the Pacific.

The two fleets have been through individual maneuvers culminating in a battle between the two. Operations during the combat were on a war time basis, with vessels of each force communicating with each other in code, with a prohibition against lights at night and with use of extra lookouts and watchers.

Complete Gunnery Practices

After the "conflict" the two fleets assembled in Guantano bay, where the battle fleet completed its year of gunnery and torpedo practice. Small arms practice was also held on shore ranges. The concentration of the fleets brought the athletes together and fleet championships for all sports were decided.

The fleet was reported yesterday in the gulf stream of the Atlantic, steaming on a 30-mile front and continuing tactical maneuvers for the benefit of commanding officers.

At 9 o'clock Friday morning, the flagship, with Adm. C. F. Hughes, fleet commander-in-chief, aboard, will lead the fleet parade into New York harbor and to anchorage in the Hudson. Some of the vessels will be sent to the Brooklyn navy yard for repairs. The vessels will extend from the battery to Yonkers—the length of the metropolis—and at least three hours will be required to get the ships into position.

MAY DEMAND LIGHTS ON BABY CARRIAGES

LONDON, April 29.—Nobody has yet been arrested in England for not having proper lights on a baby carriage at night, but it may come to that. There has just been held in Surrey an inquest on a man who was killed by an automobile while he was pushing a perambulator along the road. The coroner remarked that it was just as necessary that prams have lights as motor cars and a verdict of accidental death was registered.

SLANDER TRIAL OF ABBE ENDS IN LOVE FEAST

PARIS, April 29.—How thoroughly French is Alsace? Are her political and religious leaders, aided by a large percentage of the population, steadily and insidiously working to accomplish the return of Alsace to Germany?

These questions express the significance of a bitter and unique lawsuit that was fought out in a courtroom at Colmar, in Haut Rhin, in which the plaintiff instead of the defendant has actually been on trial.

Journalist Accused Abbe
Some months ago Edward Helye of the Paris Journal wrote a series of articles charging the Germans with filtering into Alsace for the purpose of alienating that territory from France. In them an Alsatian priest, Abbe Haegy, was cited as leader of this movement, as a result of which the abbe sued the Journal for slander. Nevertheless, as scores of witnesses were testifying and the French, German and Swiss newspapers carrying columns, it has been the priest who has been tried for patriotism and behind that the vital desire of France to bring Alsace into closer spiritual union with the rest of the republic.

That is why the finest legal orators of France have poured fluent phrases during the trial, spurred on by France's necessity somehow to instill a love of France in the Alsatians, who every one knows are far more German than French after 50 years' exposure to Deutchland culture.

Did Not Love France
The outstanding accusation again Haegy, according to the testimony of several witnesses, is that he declared last November at a meeting of an Alsatian autonomous organization, "I don't love France." It was to erase this feeling that Henri Robert, one of France's most eloquent barristers, directed his endeavors while ostensibly defending the Journal's reporter.

Seeing Helye's acquittal as a foregone conclusion, Robert bent his silver gifts to persuade the abbe that he was worthy of his support. During the testimony Senator Muller of the Lower Rhine department declared, "I understand the gravity of the situation but I differ from Helye when he wishes to see therein that the Catholic clergy have fallen under foreign influence and are seeking detachment from France." The senator said the only cure for Alsace was not governmental measures but restoration of confidence. "Leave us and we will become Frenchmen again by ourselves," the trial ended in typically French fervor.

"Vive la France!" After Henri Robert's stirring appeal that the abbe travel through France and learn of the French people for himself, the priest's counsel sprang to his feet and asked that the jury return a verdict of not guilty. The Judge addressed a warm plea for a reconciliation of Alsace with the rest of France and begged the abbe to try to understand and love France. Haegy, also overcome with emotion, sprang to his feet and cried, "Vive la France."

The entire court went wild with cheers. The lawyers, the judge, the abbe and the defendant all wept openly. A woman gave the abbe a bouquet of Alsatian flowers tied with the tricolor. He pressed it to his heart and then gave it to Helye. The French journalist, tears streaming, embraced the priest he had attacked in articles. All stood and joined in the "Marseillaise"—all except one German correspondent. When admonished by Henri Robert the German also arose. Thus ended the legal fight to win Alsace's heart.

KAKORI LEADERS ARE SENTENCED

ALLAHABAD, April 29.—The Kakori conspiracy trial—one of the biggest cases heard in India, involving, as it has done, the calling of 260 witnesses for the prosecution and the entering of 1100 exhibits—and ended in the finding of 18 of the accused persons guilty of conspiracy.

Three of the ringleaders were sentenced to death, and one, a member of the anarchical conspiracy movement in Bengal, was sentenced to transportation for life. The others were sentenced to terms of imprisonment ranging from five to 14 years.

The case arose out of an attack on a passenger train between Kakori and Almora, near Lucknow, in August, 1925, when a Moslem and a Gurkha were shot and an European was injured. Investigation of that case brought to light a widespread movement in the United Provinces to subvert government by the commission of dacoities (robberies) and murders.

NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNERS WEEDS

The City of Santa Ana will commence cutting weeds April 26th; if same have not been taken care of by the property owner, prior to the arrival of the city forces, the Street Department will cut the weeds without further notice.

Your attention is called to the fact that during previous years it has been necessary to reclean some lots where the weeds have only been partially cut by the owners. In order to avoid this confusion if anyone is uncertain as to whether their lots are properly cleaned, please call Phone No. 1136 and a city inspector will be sent to inspect the lots.

Southern California Gardens

By RUSSELL S. ADKINSON

Numerous flower shows throughout Southern California recently have given splendid demonstrations of the garden's possibilities. The varieties and quality of the amateur's display have been remarkable. To those not familiar with our floral production, these shows must be amazing; and yet there is still room for advancement along the line of flower gardening.

Garden Club

The recently organized Santa Ana City Garden club has as its purpose the assisting of amateurs along the line of better gardens. Southern California is inhabited by numerous people from other states and also other localities of this state. Our conditions are so different from those to which they have been accustomed that they are often at a loss in regard to garden problems.

The garden club offers a means of solving a number of these problems. At the regular monthly meetings speakers of authority will offer valuable information along the various lines of gardening.

When roses are to be planted, a rose expert will handle the topic. When bulbs are ready they shall also have the proper treatment, and such will be the case all through the year. In addition, a query department is to be maintained where problems of importance are to be solved.

There is also a campaign on for membership to the American Rose Society. Whether or not all mem-tors joining the garden club be- come members of the Rose society, we should receive enough roses from the two organizations to produce enough roses for a wonderful display next year, along with other oral exhibits.

Advertising Value

The city should receive a great deal of advertising value from the efforts of a strong organization. Many cities are widely known for various types of shows. Pasadena has its Tournament of Roses and semi-annual flower shows. Tacoma and Portland are known for their rose shows as is San Jose, now. Saratoga has its blossom festival and many other cities have similar attractions. Surely none have better advantages than Santa Ana where climate and soil conditions are nearly ideal for the production of a maximum in quality and variety of flowers.

Aside from our possible exhibits of note organized effort is bound to cause increased beauty and add to the impression of visitors to our town. Many towns are known as "Flower City," "Garden City," or some other name indicative of their product or beauty. Santa Ana has the opportunity to offer the best claim of any city to any of these names pertaining to flowers.

The Santa Ana Garden club will be of great benefit to each member and of unlimited benefit to the community as a whole if we get community strong. The present gardens of the city are capable of filling a whole flower show if we could only get the garden owners to realize their beauty and quality.

NOW HE'S CHAMP

HAZELTON, Pa., April 29.—Michael Pecora used to juggle hot towels in a barber shop and talk about the time when he would be a famous track star. He became discouraged when he saw a runner in action, but when he watched Frigerio, Olympic walking champion, he decided he could do as well. Now he has beaten Willis Plant, American title holder. COUNTIES SHOULD ACT

By a vote of 16 for to 20 against, the state senate yesterday killed the bill that proposed to make it mandatory that every new beach subdivision provide for a street along high tide line. The purpose of the measure was to allow the public access to the beaches.

Though the effort to secure a state law for the protection of the rights of the public to the use of the edge of the ocean failed, there is no reason why boards of supervisors should not use every possible effort to secure similar action from subdividers of beach property.

Before approval of a map, the board of supervisors of each county—and we have in mind, more than any, our own county—should see to it that a frontage street and streets leading down to the ocean are provided.

It is time now for Orange county to act.

And, speaking of ocean frontage, what has come of a movement, of which we heard a great deal a year or so ago, looking toward the purchase, by Orange county, of county parks along Orange county beaches?

THE BEST TIMES ARE NOW

Some reporter asked Chauncey Depew, on his 93rd birthday, a question about "the good old times."

"There is no more rotten paper," replied Depew. "All times are good times. The present time is the greatest time of all. These are good new times."

Of course they are. People who look to the past for perfection, lamenting their own time, not only lack historical understanding but lack practicality.

The present will doubtless stand comparison with any previous age, when every factor is considered. If we seem to lack spiritual progress, we have the stage all set now for progress in spiritual and idealistic things. And there is in this age at least a general spirit of kindness that never prevailed before.

But we might ignore all the improvements the present has brought, and fall back on this supreme fact—that the present is better for us than any other time, past or future, could possibly be, because it is the time that is ours. It is the time we have for our life drama—the time in which we can live our present life and improve upon the past and contribute to the making of a better future.

The present is always best, because it is only in the present that man can act and grow and make destiny for himself and others.

COSTLY CARELESS MAILING

It cost the Philadelphia post office $30,000 in 1926 to take care of carelessly or illegally addressed mail. A force of 13 clerks devote their entire time to such work. Other large cities probably have the same experience in only slightly varying degree. Santa Ana has no less than 100 letters a week that go to the Dead Letter office because of careless addressing.

One questions whether the letters so saved from the oblivion of the Dead Letter office are worth anything near $30,000 multiplied by the number of large post offices doing such rescue work.

It is almost awesome to contemplate the trustfulness and carelessness of the mail-sending public. In spite of plainly given and oft-repeated instructions about addressing correctly and clearly, about putting return addresses on mail, and about giving the local post office your own change of address when you move, a surprisingly large section of the public goes right ahead ignoring all the rules and calmly trusting to Uncle Sam to make up for its deficiencies.

Perhaps if the various post offices didn't do such a good job retrieving otherwise lost mail, the public would make up and assume more of its own responsibility.

FARM POPULATION FIGURES

More than 2,000,000 people moved away from American farms last year, while a little more than 1,000,000 moved onto farms. It made a net movement from farm to city of 1,020,000. Natural increase of farm families brought down the net loss of farm population to 650,000.

That was to be expected, and is nothing to worry about. It has been evident, from the plight of the agricultural regions, that the people on the farms were able to produce more than the market could consume. The country can be fed and clothed, and the foreign market supplied with what it needs, with fewer farmers.

Improved machinery, methods and transportation make the difference. Agriculture just now is paying the price of progress. The loss of farm population is the natural remedy. Sooner or later a balance will be struck, and the rural sections will attain stable prosperity along with the industrial sections.

HELPING THE INSECTS

Here is another illuminating statement for those who insist on slaughtering "destructive birds." It is from the Herald of Alliston, Ont.

"When an Essex farmer complained that the peacocks were eating his corn the game department killed two of the birds, examined their crops and found 200 cutworms and no corn. Almost without exception when the scientists investigate such cases they find the same results. The farmer owes his crop to the feathered police that keep down the bugs, insects and worms. With continuing slaughter of every form of bird life, the insect loss will be heavier and farm labor harder. The nation could train an army of riflemen in a comparatively short time, but it could not in a century restore the bird armies that are the farmers' allies in raising food to feed the country."

Every year American farmers and gardeners have to pay more money for insect poison and do more work to apply it, in order to save their crops from the ever increasing horde of pests. Nature seems harder and harder to contend with in the human struggle for existence—which is primarily a struggle for food.

But that is not nature's fault. Nature, which is kindly as well as hostile, when she created the insects created also the birds to keep them under control.

The trouble is that man persists in destroying the balance of nature. If the insects ever do come to dominate the earth, as some scientists fear, it will be because man has stupidly destroyed so much of the friendly wild life that the insects were enabled to multiply unchecked.

Don't say there's nothing in astrology. A horoscope is always true when it's good.

Safeguards The Primary

Stockton Record

In Governor C. C. Young, California, has an executive who vigilantly watches any legislation that might serve to weaken the primary laws. And that is as it should be.

The Governor has vetoed a bill introduced by Assemblyman Charles B. Melville of Fort Bragg which would have permitted consolidation of two or more regular state or county election precincts for primary elections.

Declaring that the direct primary had come to stay and serving notice that he would use his veto power to resist any assaults upon it, Mr. Young said:

"If the primary precincts were thus enlarged it would naturally mean that the voter, especially in the country, must travel a longer distance to the polls and often vote in a place different from that to which he's accustomed. This could have no other effect than to discourage primary voting, though I am satisfied it was not introduced with this idea in mind."

While the Melville bill may have been motivated solely by a desire to effect economy, it could not be given the benefit of the doubt. And the Governor wisely refused to do so. Too often the attacks upon the direct primary, valued instrument which has routed the old boss-controlled convention system and given the electors the right to nominate their own candidates, are made under a cloak. Authors of measures introduced in the legislature to weaken the primary laws, despite their eagerness to put over their program, have generally been afraid to come out in the open with their intentions.

All bills affecting the primary should be scrutinized to find if there is a pressing need for them. And like Caesar's wife, they should be above suspicion. The Melville bill did not fall within this class.

Rail Companies and Paving

Fresno Republican

Announcement that the Southern Pacific had entered into the motor transport field is not surprising. In fact something of the sort has been foretold, of railroad activity, for some time past.

There has been an unnatural competition between rail and pavement transport. It would be impossible for railroads to continue to do business under conditions where the nature of the business struggle was against them.

To be sure, there are some features in freight movement, as well as in passenger, in which the pavement traffic can not compete. But these elements are cut into by the advantages of a traffic that does not have to pay taxes on its right of way, nor to keep up the right of way, and which can follow along to trade centers established by non-competitive traffic.

Unquestionably there will have to be, one of these days, a more scientific delineation of the relation of transport to right of way.

It was the old theory that all that the public had to provide was a "right of way," that is a permit to cross over private land on certain definite paths. This was the era of no roads, of swamps, of morasses, instead of streets. It could not be long endured, because the public itself was interested in having better passage. So came paving. Then came the establishment of special transport, that could not use the paving, but could use rails. Now we are in the era of a transport system that can use the paving and does. Yet we are still largely dependent on rails, and possibly always will be to some extent.

What we must have is a tax adjustment system that will equalize the advantages of the private use of rails and the private use, for revenue purposes, of paving.

ABSOLUTE CLEANLINESS ESSENTIAL IN KEEPING GERMS AWAY

Disease is transferred from one person to another by the passage of the germs or infectious agent. The infectious agents vary according to the disease concerned and as to the methods of transmission.

Many diseases are transmitted by intermediate carriers of disease, which may be either insects or persons who carry germs, but who are not themselves ill.

Certain general measures are desirable for purposes of cleanliness, as well as for the prevention of specific disorders.

These include the frequent use of soap and water baths; the washing of the hands in soap and water after attending to any physical need, and always before eating; the keeping of the hands and of any unclean articles, particularly toilet accessories that may have been used by other persons, away from the mouth, nose, eyes, ears, or any other body openings; the avoidance of common drinking or toilet articles, such as towels, handkerchiefs, hair brushes, drinking cups and pipes, and finally the avoidance of close contact with persons who may be coughing, sneezing, laughing, or talking and thereby spraying infectious material from the nose and mouth.

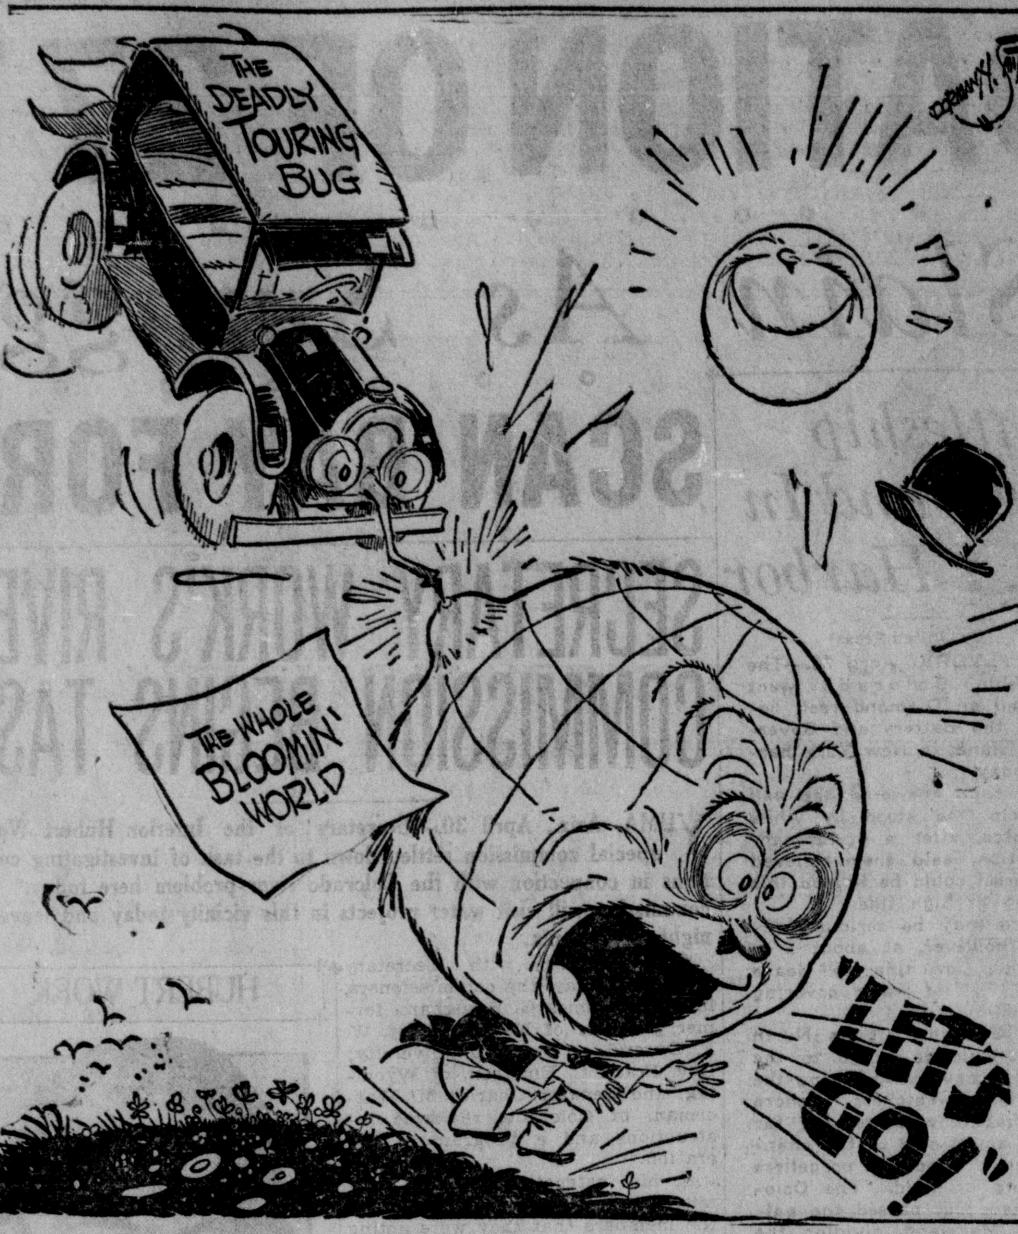

By attention to the simple matters that have been mentioned one may avoid largely contact with infectious diseases.

A second important factor is limitation of the freedom of movement of persons or animals who have been exposed to communicable diseases for a length of time which will insure their freedom from infection. Such limitation is generally known as quarantine. It must be emphasized that it concerns restrictions of the action of persons who have been exposed to disease and not those who are actually ill.

When a disease has terminated either by cure of the patient or by death, certain measures are necessary to insure that his surroundings and the materials associated with him will not disseminate infection.

These measures include cleaning by scrubbing and washing with hot water, soap, or washing soda; disinfection by the use of chemical substances or by exposure to sunlight and fresh air; renovation by the removal of refuse, painting or calcining; disinfecting, by which insects and animals in the environment may be destroyed, and sub-classifications of the two latter procedures.

Rules for Springtime

The Garden Club of Los Angeles has prepared a set of seven rules for spring hikers and motorists to follow in regard to wild flowers.

1. Never gather many flowers of one kind in any one locality, no matter how common they seem there.

2. Leave the roots of perennials. Otherwise the plant is killed.

3. Pick the flowers of annuals very sparingly, or there will be no seeds for next year.

4. Do not break or tear off woody flowering branches; cut them close to the base so the wound may heal over and prevent fungus disease from entering.

5. Protect all the plants furnishing food and shelter to birds.

6. Remember that most wild flowers fade soon after picking. If left in their natural state their bloom lasts longer and gives pleasure to more people.

7. Do not drop lighted matches, cigars or cigarettes in the woods or fields, or burn them intentionally, as burning destroys humus in the soil necessary for the growth of desirable plants and causes them to be replaced by troublesome weeds.

An eighth rule, summing all the others, might be added:

Visit the woods and fields, feast your eyes and souls on the beauty found there, and go away without destroying any of it.

THE FIRST BLUE-BIRD

Jest rain and snow! and rain again!
And dribble! drip! and blow!
Then snow! and thaw! and slush! and then—
Some more rain and snow!

This morning I was 'most afraid

To wake up—when, I jing!

I seen the sun shine out and heerd

The first blue-bird of spring!

Mother she'd raised the winter some;—

And in across the orchard come,

Soft as an angel's wing,

A breezy, treesy, beesy hum,

Too sweet for anything!

The winter's shroud was rent apart—

The sun burst forth in glee,

And when the blue-bird sung, my heart
